DESTROYER CARRIES PRIME MINISTER TO SYDNEY FROM P.E.I. GREAT ROTARY EVENT STARTS IN CHICAGO LEADS ROTARIANS AT BIG CONVENTION IN CHICAGO Dirigible R-101 To Make Flights Crew of Four To Leave Ireland Aboard Plane For Flight To New York

Destroyer Carries Prime Minister To Sydney From P.E.I.

Premier King, After Visit To Canada's Smallest Province, Voyages To Cape Breton, Where He Will Address Electors This Evening On Questions In Federal Election Campaign.

By Ray Brown, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 23.—Flags flew from the masts and rigging of the destroyer Champlain last night to welcome on board Premier King and members of his party. This morning the long, clean-cut destroyer steamed slowly out of Charlottetown harbor, bound for Sydney, N.S., where Mr. King will speak this evening.

As the meeting will be held in the centre of Nova Scotia steel and coal district, it is anticipated the Prime Minister will devote a part of his speech to a discussion of matters bearing on that industry.

RESTED ON SUNDAY
Yesterday was a quiet day for the Prime Minister. His private car lay at the station in Charlottetown throughout the entire day while Mr. King attended church and rested. The previous evening he had addressed a large meeting here, while earlier in the day he had spoken at another gathering at Summerside. Two meetings comprised the tour of the Prime Minister in Prince Edward Island. This morning he said farewell to the little island province.

As was to be expected, Mr. King devoted much of his speaking time in Prince Edward Island to a discussion of subjects which are primarily of interest in the Maritimes.

DISCUSSION OF DUTIES
With respect to countervailing duties, the Prime Minister remarked that apparently these were attracting some attention in the United States. He said he had gathered from newspapers that President Hoover was considering bringing down on the commodities affected by the countervailing provisions in the Dominion tariff.

VANCOUVER MAN IS MISSING

Vancouver, June 23.—John Ryder Arnold, president of Arnold's Marine Service Limited, has been missing since May 28, according to reports made to city and provincial police. It is stated he left Vancouver on that date for New Westminster on business. He is believed to have had about $275 in his possession.

The missing man is described as about forty years old, five feet four or five inches tall, weighing about 135 pounds, with straight brown hair, light blue eyes and a florid complexion.

FAMOUS OLD CANOE BACK IN VICTORIA

Tilikum, in which Capt Voss sailed, Will Be Used as Attraction Here
The famous old canoe Tilikum, which gained world-wide fame when Capt. Voss sailed her from Victoria to England around the Straits of Magellan, has returned to Victoria. But not in the same triumphant way in which she left here many years ago. For then she was proud with tall masts and plenty of flowing white sail, and was manned by a lone sailor and daring adventurer, who won his battles with wind and wave on a 15,000 mile voyage. But when the Tilikum returned to Victoria on Saturday she was strongly crated and was swung out of the hold of the Furness motor liner Pacific Ranger, looking very different from when she left on her history-making trip.

The Tilikum is still resting in her big wooden packing case at the Ritz hotel awaiting the decision of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce as to just what will be done with her. When the directors heard that the Tilikum was idle and useless in London they thought it would be a good idea to get possession of it and bring her to Victoria as a historic link with the past when Victoria was her home port of many old-time craft. Officials of British Columbia House in London were communicated with and they secured the old ship and the Furness Pacific Line offered to send it out to the Pacific Coast free of charge aboard one of their ships.

Just where the Tilikum will be placed has not been decided yet. Beacon Hill Park would make a good place, if a proper shelter could be made. There it would prove an attraction to residents of Victoria and to tourists who flock to the park during the summer months. It is also being considered as a historic link with the past when Victoria was her home port of many old-time craft.

GREAT ROTARY EVENT STARTS IN CHICAGO

Representatives From Sixty-two Countries Celebrate Clubs' 25th Anniversary

Believed Delegates and Members of Families Will Total 20,000

Canadian Press
Chicago, June 23.—Rotarians from Alaska, Yugoslavia and sixty other nations in the list between them were streaming into Chicago to-day to celebrate in the birthplace of Rotary the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the first Rotary Club. To greet them there were seventeen of the original club and the founder, Paul P. Harris, Chicago lawyer, who conceived the idea of a fellowship club composed of members of different occupations.

A five-day programme featuring international relations and world fellowship, along lines suggested by speakers of the first Rotary Club, began to-day. An indicated registration of 20,000 Rotarians and members of their families was under way in the ground floor of the St. Paul Hotel. A group of one of the People's Gas Company, one of Michigan Boulevard's most imposing skyscrapers.

DISCUSS LEGISLATION
The principal business on to-day's programme, other than distribution of the visitors to their hotels, was a meeting of the voting delegates to consider legislation proposed for enactment at this convention, and also suggested legislation for the possible consideration of future conventions. One of the resolutions under consideration would provide a "Past Service Membership" for those Rotarians who retire from active service in the service of the community. Under present rules, this retirement automatically terminates membership, which is now restricted to one active principal (and one associate) in the same company in each line of business or profession.

IN BIG STADIUM
The informal opening of the convention to-night at the Chicago Stadium will consist of a musical entertainment by the Symphonie Orchestra, Imperial Welsh Singers, Swedish Choral Club and a special chorus of 400 voices. This will be followed by a pageant portraying the growth of Rotary from a little group of four men to an organization of 153,000 members in twenty-five years; from one club to 3,330 clubs in sixty-two countries.

In the name of the 625 Rotarians of Chicago, who rank include seventeen "quarter century" members, President Floyd L. Bateman of the Rotary Club of Chicago, will preside at the formal opening session to-morrow at the No. 1 Rotary Club to all its successors. In the name of the visiting Rotarians, especially those from overseas, Dr. Otto Bohler of Vienna, Austria, will respond and the convention will then be formally opened.

KERSHAW TRIAL ON WEDNESDAY

M. B. Jackson, K.C., Obtains Delay to Prepare Defence

Trial of John Kershaw by an assize court jury on a charge of theft of $750 in cash and a number of cheques from the Sisters of St. Ann, was this morning postponed by Mr. Justice Gregory until Wednesday morning, after Mr. B. Jackson, K.C., had stated that he was appearing as counsel for the accused and required time to prepare the defence. Mr. Jackson regretted that the Crown was reluctant to traverse the hearing until the fall, and appealed for delay until the close of this week.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, stated that many adjournments had been granted the accused since he first appeared in the City Police Court on May 28. There had been ample time for him to instruct counsel as to the defence to be offered. Delay was putting the country to much expense, as a day's session of the Assize must pass with no case presented.

Mr. Justice Gregory commented that it was the place of the accused to get counsel. It would be easy for a man in his position to get one counsel, then, after delays, discharge that counsel and get another who would seek further delays.

GREAT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION IN TORONTO

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 23.—Hundreds of church workers from all parts of the continent are in this city for the International Convention of Religious Education, which will open to-morrow. Not since 1905 have the Sunday School workers of North America met in Toronto. On that occasion they gathered in the Metropolitan Methodist Church. This week it will require the grounds of the Canadian National Exhibition to accommodate the 5,000 delegates.

This meeting of the International Religious Education Association marks the sesquicentennial of the Sunday school movement, which was launched by Robert Raikes, English philanthropist, in Gloucester, England, one hundred and fifty years ago next Saturday. His statue in Queen's Park here will be unveiled by a boy and a girl representing the oldest Sunday Schools in the United States and Canada, that of Christ Church, Savannah, Georgia, and that of St. Paul's Church, Halifax, N.S. This memorial, a replica of one standing on the Thames embankment in London, Eng., is the gift of the City of Toronto and J. L. Kraft, U.S. manufacturer.

Dirigible R-101 To Make Flights

Cardington, Eng., June 23.—The airship R-101, British dirigible, was hitched to its mooring mast here to-day preparatory to trial flights this week.

Since its last outdoor appearance before Christmas the R-101 has been reconditioned and lightened and its lifting capacity increased by six tons. When it returns to its shed in the middle of July it will be somewhat further lightened and a new set of Brooklyn engines, capable of reverse action, will be installed.

Many Wounded During Riot In Seville

Seville, Spain, June 23.—Many persons were wounded during rioting today, resulting from a sudden conflict between police and strikers. The police fired into the crowd in an effort to suppress demonstrations.

Box Makers' Convention Here To-day

Sixteenth Annual Convention of Coast Manufacturers Opens
Mayor Anscomb Addresses Delegates at First Business Meeting

More than eighty members of the Pacific Coast Paper Box Manufacturers' Association registered at the Empress Hotel yesterday for their sixteenth annual convention which will be held here until Wednesday. The delegates were welcomed this morning by Mayor Herbert Anscomb on behalf of the citizens of Victoria.

A complete business and social programme has been arranged for the three days and the members of the association will have every moment filled with meetings, luncheons, banquets, elections, drives and a golf tournament. Representatives of all the larger coast box makers were at the business meeting this morning when His Worship opened the programme with a cordial speech of welcome. The Mayor stressed the good feeling and international amity which was encouraged by conventions of this kind and hoped that the association would be able to return to Victoria regularly in the future. There is very little difference, he said, in the aims, heritage and traditions of the inhabitants of the Pacific Slope and find ourselves equally at home in any community between Mexico and Alaska.

The Mayor's speech was followed by a response by President Charles Rubie who thanked His Worship in a few words. Reports were then read and two addresses were delivered. Charles B. Kerr, of Hollywood, and W. J. O'Donnell, of San Francisco, spoke on "The Value of Advertising" and Russell B. Baker addressed the meeting on "How to Retain the Confidence of Your Customers."

The social tournament got away to a flying start at Colwood yesterday afternoon when the qualifying round was completed. Match play will commence to-day and will continue to-morrow and Wednesday over the same course.

JAM FACTORIES RAISE BID FOR BERRY SUPPLY

Saanich Strawberry Growers Ceased Prairie Shipments To-day; 16 Cars Forwarded

Price for Jam Fruit Increased to Nine Cents, Which Gives Berryman Good Return
Saanich strawberry growers this morning shipped the final car of berries to the prairie markets. Sixteen cars have been sent this year, eleven having been shipped jointly by the Saanich and Gordon Head associations, while five cars were forwarded by the Keating Co-operative.

The season has been notable for the splendid condition in which the shipments arrived at prairie distribution centres. Many wholesalers handling Saanich fruit have stressed this fact in their telegraphic reports, adding warm thanks for the attention and inspection, which had resulted in price for adjustments being filed this year.

U.S. CONGRESS MAY LOOK INTO STOCK MARKET

Suggestion Made Declines Engineered in Attempt to Discredit New Tariff
Washington, June 23.—Congressional investigation of recent declines in the stock market developed as a strong probability to-day. Stirred by the political necessity of combating attacks on the new tariff law and of convincing the nation it is not responsible for the enormous reduction in the value of securities, Republican leaders in the House and Senate began to talk seriously of a Wall Street investigation.

200 THROWN IN RIVER WHEN BRIDGE FALLS

Chemnitz, Germany, June 23.—Two hundred spectators crowding a bridge over the Chemnitz River and watching swimmers below were plunged into the swirling waters by the collapse of the bridge yesterday. About ninety were injured, several seriously. Many children were hurt, or got a ducking with their elders. The bridge was a wooden one.

KILLED BY FALL

Vancouver, June 23.—John Griffin, aged nineteen, a native of Dublin, Ireland, and employed as deckboy on Reardon Smith Line steamship Fresno City, died at noon to-day at St. Paul's Hospital here from a fracture of the skull, the result of falling twenty-eight feet into the ship's hold early to-day.

Crew of Four To Leave Ireland Aboard Plane For Flight To New York

Kingsford-Smith and His Companions Fly Monoplane Southern Cross From Dublin To Port Marnock, Hoping To Start At 2.30 To-morrow Morning, Irish Time (6.30 p.m. To-day, Victoria Time), On Perilous Flight.

MACNIDER IS SOON TO TAKE OTTAWA POST

New Minister Will Cross the Border After Conference at Washington

Appointment By Hoover Confirmed By U.S. Senate Without Record Vote

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, June 23.—Harford MacNider, United States Minister to Canada, is expected to come to Washington shortly from his home in Mason City, Iowa, to go over with government officials here the details of current affairs between Canada and the United States. He will then, it is understood, go immediately to Ottawa to occupy the post which has been vacant for six months.

Friends of the new minister in Washington are jubilant over confirmation of his appointment by the Senate without a record vote. The attack made upon the nomination by Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart.

EARLY SURVEY OF ALASKA-YUKON ROAD

Airplanes and Ground Parties May Soon Start Mapping International Caravan Home-ward Bound From Hazelton

Smithers, B.C., June 23.—Home-ward bound with his motor caravan after its pilgrimage to Hazelton, premier Toole is well satisfied with his progress on the Alaska road project.

After conferring in Hazelton with E. W. Sawyer, representing President Hoover and Governor Parkes of Alaska, the Premier intimated that he was delighted with the results already achieved in laying a foundation for the great highway scheme.

It is understood that the conference decided to "push ahead as rapidly as possible" the surveys, which will be carried out this year, to locate a possible route for the road through northern British Columbia, the Yukon and Alaska, with the use of airplanes and ground parties.

It is reported the Alaska road is receiving more direct support than any promoters had anticipated after Lieutenant-General MacNider's speech in favour of its construction in the strongly-worded Hazelton speech. Dr. H. C. Winch, Liberal member of the Legislature for Skeena, also spoke in favour of it.

Starting from Smithers at 6 a.m. Monday the caravan is speeding to-day to Fort St. James, where it will pause all day Tuesday.

FAT MEN'S CLUB OF U.S. STAGES ANNUAL OUTING

Swampscott, Mass., June 23.—Tons of humanity in the persons of twenty-five diademen of diets assembled here yesterday for the annual outing of the United States Fat Men's Club.

Unconcerned with calories in keeping with the club slogan, "We meet to eat and eat to grow," the portly gentlemen gave a gastronomic exhibition at a six-course dinner and then made merry on the lawn in stunts which left them puffing but happy.

President Carl F. Shaw, the lightest member, tipped the scale at 273 pounds while the heaviest was Charles M. Smith who registered 324 pounds.

FINAL COURT ON VOTERS' LIST TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

Wednesday afternoon offers the last opportunity for electors who have not registered for the new federal list to have their names placed on the roll. Judge Lammiman, who presided over a Court of Revision Saturday, will sit again to-morrow and Wednesday. To-morrow he will sit at 10 o'clock in the morning. Wednesday he will sit at 2.30 and 4 o'clock.

ACTS OF POLICE IN INDIA ARE NOW PROTESTED

London, June 23.—Bombay dispatches to The London Daily Herald report wives and daughters of Indians holding British titles decided Saturday night to send a telegram of protest to Queen Mary against suppression of the Nationalist parade on the Malden Esplanade Saturday.

About 500 persons were reported injured during the police charges that cleared the Esplanade.

The London Daily Mail's correspondent says that since the beginning of Gandhi's campaign nothing so serious for Britain and India has occurred. He reports the entire Indian community has been "shaken to its depths."

Premier King Heard
In Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Questions of Interest to Maritime Provinces Also Discussed By Prime Minister at Summerside

By Ray Brown, Canadian Press Staff
Correspondent

Charlottetown, P.E.I., June 23.—To a general discussion of the major campaign issues Premier King on Saturday added certain features of particular interest to the Maritime Provinces.
The Prime Minister addressed two meetings in this little island province, the first at Summerside in the afternoon and the second in the capital city of Charlottetown in the evening.
At both places he spoke to large audiences which accorded him an attentive hearing and frequent applause.

Summerside, where Mr. King spoke first, is situated in the County of Prince, it was that constituency which first elected the Prime Minister to Parliament after he was chosen to lead the Liberal forces in Canada. This fact was commented on by Mr. King. His visit, he said, was in the nature of a homecoming, and he thanked his audience for inviting him to represent them when he was a young untied political leader.

NEW MINISTER THEN
On the platform with the Prime Minister at both meetings was seated
one of the newest members of Mr.
King's Cabinet, Dr. Cyrus Macmillan,
recently appointed Minister of Fisheries, who also spoke briefly. Mr. King took the opportunity to welcome Dr.
Macmillan and to declare he considered
his joining the government a real acquisition.

On the platform at Summerside was Premier W. Leach, who recently succeeded
to this post in Prince Edward Island.
Hon. J. E. Sinclair, now a member of the Senate, but formerly one of the representatives of Queen's, and A. E.
McLean, former member for Prince
consistently were also present.

At Charlottetown, Dr. J. E. Sinclair,
president of the Queen's County Liberal Association, presided, and B. H. Jenkins,
former member for Queen's and again
a candidate, was one of the speakers.

SUBSIDIES INCREASED
Mr. King went carefully into the questions involved in the "Maritime Rights" and reviewed what had been done by the Liberal Government.
In implementing the Duncan report,
increased subsidies had been and were
being paid to the Maritime Provinces.

In the case of Prince Edward Island
the increase had amounted to $125,000
a year, he said.

The Duncan commission, he said,
had recommended a separate department of fisheries with a deputy minister of its own. It remained for the royal commission on fisheries to recommend the appointment of a Minister of Fisheries. When this appointment was under consideration, said Mr. King, he suggested that the government should appoint a Minister of Fisheries from British Columbia and from Nova Scotia
asking that the new member of the Cabinet be selected from one of
these appellants.

The Province of British Columbia,
said Mr. King, pointed out its fisheries were more valuable than those of the Maritime Provinces. "I began to feel in a pretty delicate position. I had to consider the matter from the point of view of the whole country," he went on. It had always been his policy to appoint a Cabinet Minister
from every province of the Dominion, and British Columbia already had a
minister while Prince Edward Island
had not. "I am going to appoint a Minister from Prince Edward Island," Mr.
King asserted, and his statement was received with applause. Both Nova Scotia and British Columbia were cheerfully in the matter, said Mr.
King.

FINANCIAL TERMS
There was another factor which had
influenced him in the selection of Dr.
Macmillan as a member of the Government, the Prime Minister said. The financial settlement of the Maritime Provinces was yet to be made. The audit board was engaged in investigating this matter, and he reports would come before the Cabinet.
He felt he could not have a better
man sitting with him at the council
table, when this report came up, than
Dr. Macmillan, and he also stated that Dr. Macmillan had been a member of the Duncan Commission and he had investigated these matters first hand.
He had given them real study.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
Old age pensions occupied the attention of the Prime Minister for a few minutes. Mr. Bennett will be here soon and he will tell you he
will put in an old age pension law,
the whole cost of which will be borne
by the Federal Government, he said.
"Now don't be too sure that Mr.
Bennett will have a chance to take any such action," he said, "it is very easy to make promises which you do
not have to implement them."

He warned his listeners that the proposal of Mr. Bennett would mean increased taxation, and he also stated
the first time the old age pension
legislation was introduced in the House
of Commons the Conservatives had opposed it.

He then opposed to the Federal Government taking over the old age
pensions as a federal obligation," said
Mr. King, but before any such action was taken he thought that there would be an accounting as between
the Federal Government and the provinces.
He changed.

He felt that perhaps the time had come for a further revision of the provincial subsidies. At the Dominion Provincial Conference in Ottawa some years ago went on Mr. King, the provinces had taken the ground they did not want money with strings attached to it. Their view was that subsidies and that they should be permitted to dispose of the money as they saw fit. In view of this fact,
the best thing to do would be to have
a new accounting, and then, if it appeared the Federal Government should assume the cost of old age pensions,
the British North America Act could
be changed.

HIGHWAY DISCUSSION
Another subject which was being emphasized by Mr. Bennett was the need for a national highway. Mr. King said. As a matter of fact, he felt that Mr. Bennett was right. He was new issue to keep the minds of the people off the great main issues of

Straith had score of 5, 3, 4, 6, 3, 3, at these holes for a gross score of 24,
which with his handicap of 3-2-3 gave him a net 20-1-8. Harry Stewart finished second with a net total of 20-2-3. There were seventy entries.

Bermuda Sends In Initial Entry For Hamilton Games

Hamilton, Ont., June 23.—The honour of forwarding the first official entry for the British Empire games goes to Bermuda. The entry of David Gwynn, in the 100-yard and 200-yard sprints, was received Saturday by the British Empire games committee. Gwynn is a member of the Bermuda Athletic Association, which forwarded the official entry form. It is expected Bermuda will also be represented by swimmers.

At any rate the question of a national highway had been brought up. Shortly after the election there would be a great conference on unemployment in Ottawa. At that conference the question of a national highway might be taken up.
Representatives of the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities of the railways and other interest should be represented at the conference. If that conference was favorable to the completion of a national highway, there would be too, Mr. King said. Really what was needed, perhaps more than a national highway, were better roads leading into the highways. There would be of great value to those living in outlying districts.

On the platform with the Prime Minister at both meetings was seated
one of the newest members of Mr.
King's Cabinet, Dr. Cyrus Macmillan,
recently appointed Minister of Fisheries, who also spoke briefly. Mr. King
took the opportunity to welcome Dr.
Macmillan and to declare he considered
his joining the government a real
acquisition.

On the platform at Summerside was Premier W. Leach, who recently succeeded
to this post in Prince Edward Island.
Hon. J. E. Sinclair, now a member of the Senate, but formerly one of the representatives of Queen's, and A. E.
McLean, former member for Prince
consistently were also present.

At Charlottetown, Dr. J. E. Sinclair,
president of the Queen's County Liberal Association, presided, and B. H. Jenkins,
former member for Queen's and again
a candidate, was one of the speakers.

SUBSIDIES INCREASED
Mr. King went carefully into the
questions involved in the "Maritime Rights" and reviewed what had been done by the Liberal Government.
In implementing the Duncan report,
increased subsidies had been and were
being paid to the Maritime Provinces.

In the case of Prince Edward Island
the increase had amounted to $125,000
a year, he said.

The Duncan commission, he said,
had recommended a separate department of fisheries with a deputy minister of its own. It
remained for the royal commission on fisheries to recommend the appointment of a Minister of Fisheries. When this appointment was under consideration, said Mr. King, he suggested that the government should appoint a Minister of Fisheries from British Columbia and from Nova Scotia
asking that the new member of
the Cabinet be selected from one of
these appellants.

The Province of British Columbia,
said Mr. King, pointed out its fisheries were more valuable than those of
the Maritime Provinces. "I began to feel in a pretty delicate position. I had to consider the matter from the
point of view of the whole country,"
he went on. It had always been his policy to appoint a Cabinet Minister
from every province of the Dominion,
and British Columbia already had a
minister while Prince Edward Island
had not. "I am going to appoint a Minister from Prince Edward Island," Mr.
King asserted, and his statement was received with applause. Both Nova Scotia and British Columbia were cheerfully in the matter, said Mr.
King.

FINANCIAL TERMS
There was another factor which had
influenced him in the selection of Dr.
Macmillan as a member of the Government, the Prime Minister said. The financial settlement of the Maritime Provinces was yet to be made. The
audit board was engaged in investigating this matter, and he
reports would come before the Cabinet.
He felt he could not have a better
man sitting with him at the council
table, when this report came up, than
Dr. Macmillan, and he also stated that Dr. Macmillan had been a member of the Duncan Commission and he had
investigated these matters first hand.
He had given them real study.

Old age pensions occupied the attention of the Prime Minister for a few minutes. Mr. Bennett will be here soon and he will tell you he
will put in an old age pension law,
the whole cost of which will be borne
by the Federal Government, he said.
"Now don't be too sure that Mr.
Bennett will have a chance to take
any such action," he said, "it is very
easy to make promises which you do
not have to implement them."

He warned his listeners that the proposal of Mr. Bennett would mean
increased taxation, and he also stated
the first time the old age pension
legislation was introduced in the House
of Commons the Conservatives had
opposed it.

He then opposed to the Federal Government taking over the old age
pensions as a federal obligation," said
Mr. King, but before any such action
was taken he thought that there would be an accounting as between
the Federal Government and the provinces.
He changed.

He felt that perhaps the time had come for a further revision of the provincial subsidies. At the Dominion Provincial Conference in Ottawa some years ago went on Mr. King, the provinces had taken the ground they did not want money with strings attached to it. Their view was that subsidies and that they should be permitted to dispose of the money as they saw fit. In view of this fact,
the best thing to do would be to have
a new accounting, and then, if it
appeared the Federal Government should assume the cost of old age pensions,
the British North America Act could
be changed.

HIGHWAY DISCUSSION
Another subject which was being emphasized by Mr. Bennett was the need for a national highway. Mr. King said. As a matter of fact, he felt that Mr. Bennett was right. He was
new issue to keep the minds of the
people off the great main issues of

BURNED TO DEATH

Seattle, June 23.—Roy Nelson, listed as a narcotics patient, was burned to death in the King County Hospital here last night when his bed caught fire. Hospital attendants said Nelson had been locked in a private room for disciplinary purposes. Attracted by the smoke and Nelson's screams for help, they rushed to his aid, but were too late to save his life.

OPPORTUNITIES MANY FOR THOSE WILLING TO WORK

Duke of Connaught Points College Students in England to Canada

London, June 23.—"There have probably been no greater openings at any time in the world for young men prepared to work than those presented by Canada to-day," declared the Duke of Connaught, formerly Governor-General of Canada, in an address at Wellington College, Crowther, Saturday.

The Duke suggested that parents, as well as boys, might do well to consider the opportunities of the Dominion. Those who went to Canada were well able to feel they were not going to a foreign country, but to a land imbued with the same ideas of loyalty as the Mother Country.

Frederick G. Mallin, headmaster of Wellington, urged his pupils to consider the career of electrical engineer, especially in the service of such great companies as those which had harnessed the immense power of Niagara.

The task of uncovering the vast mineral wealth of a country such as Canada also involved a great and profitable career. There was an enormous demand for qualified engineers and chemists and if Britain were able to keep up sending a steady stream of trained men to the Dominion it would be doing a great Empire service.

Part of Plato's philosophy was to the effect that the mind was always superior to the body and should at all times control it.

Tourists Spend Big Sum In This Country

In 1929 U.S. Visitors Spent $289,000,000, Washington
Statisticians Estimate

By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff
Correspondent

Washington, June 23.—In 1929 United States visitors to Canada spent about $289,000,000 and Canadians spent in the United States about $91,000,000.

Of the amount of United States money which flowed over the border, about $268,744 went by motor car. A table prepared by the Department of Commerce on the basis of questionnaires furnished automobile tourists, estimates the gross expenditures of three groups of automobile tourists during 1929, was as follows:

Sixty-day cars.....$153,652,000
One-day cars.....44,416,000
Six-month cars.....676,000

With the usual graphic twist beloved by analysts, the department's statistician evolves this figure—"The 4,508,809 automobiles imported into Canada for touring purposes in 1929, if allowed fifteen feet of space each, would make a traffic jam reaching more than half way round the equator."

A blonde usually has from 140,000 to 150,000 hairs on her head, a brunette from 100,000 to 110,000, while a red-haired person's hairs usually number under 100,000.

ATLANTIC CITY MAYOR IS KILLED IN AUTO SMASH

Assemblyman and Two Women Also Lose Lives
When Train Hits Auto

Absecon, N.J., June 23.—Anthony M. Ruffo Jr., mayor of Atlantic City, two unidentified women and a man, believed to be Assemblyman Anthony J. Siracusa, were killed when a train struck their automobile early to-day.

The body of Ruffo was identified by papers in pockets and by shreds of clothing. The mayor's sedan was struck in the centre by a southbound Pennsylvania Railroad express at the Mill Road crossing here.

Mayor Ruffo had just finished the short rest he had taken after he was acquitted by the Atlantic County Grand Jury recently of charges of illegal practices in connection with the placing of municipal insurance.

Siracusa was a close friend of the mayor's, and often went on trips with him.

ONTARIO TOWNS THIS WEEK TO HEAR BENNETT

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 23.—Leaders of both political parties will be in the east this week. Hon. R. B. Bennett spoke in Brandon, Man., Saturday afternoon, after which he proceeded east by Winnipeg and is to reach Toronto Tuesday. He is to speak in Cobourg, Ont., that evening and in Woodstock the next evening. He will address a gathering in Montreal Thursday night and will speak Friday night in Cornwall. After that he will be in the Eastern Townships.

Hon. R. J. Manion left for Manitoba and during the week will speak at a number of points in that province. Senator Oliver Robertson also is taking to the hustings in the interest of the Conservative Party and will address a series of meetings in the Maritime, beginning at New Glasgow tonight.

The end of the week will probably see most of the party conventions completed and candidates selected. Workers of both parties have announced themselves well pleased with the progress and state the pre-election machinery is running smoothly.

TWO DROWNED IN RED RIVER

Winnipeg, June 23.—Waters of the Red River are believed to have taken toll of two lives—a man and a woman—when a canoe overturned.

The body of the man, still unidentified, was found floating in the river Sunday and police, after investigation, expressed the belief he had been accompanied by a woman companion on the fatal outing.

The canoe was found last Thursday upside down, near shore. It had been rented Wednesday night from the River Park Boating Livery. The man was about thirty-five years old. There were no identification marks on his clothing, nor did the pockets contain identification papers.

KILLED WHILE SEEKING CURE

Spokane, Wash., June 23.—Peter Kuneman, sixty-three, Tacoma, stationery engineer for a railroad, was electrocuted yesterday by an electric blanket in which he had wrapped himself in an effort to gain relief from rheumatism pains, his brother, Henry Kuneman, reported.

Scott's "Tales of a Grandfather" was told chapter by chapter, before a word was written down, to his grandfather.

ROCK GARDENS AT CHELSEA

By JOHN HUTCHISON, F.R.H.S.

Advices from England tell us that the rock gardens at the great Chelsea show were not as good this year as last. A friend of the writer has just sent some notes on which this article is built.

Messrs. Fulham and Son had one of the best examples of the rock garden of the day. There was a waterfall and stream ending in a pool. The rock work was perhaps a little overdone, but the planting was in excellent taste. In the background were dwarf brodiaeas, Japanese Anemones with a few cacti. The rest of the planting was made up with Phloxes, Iberis, Armerias, Saxifrage, Primulas, Daphne Cneorum, dwarf Pentstemons and Sedums.

Messrs. Clarence Elliott's effort achieved the aids of water and grass. The boulders were well grouped and approached by paths surfaced with shingle. It was evident that a great deal of thought had been given to the construction and planting, and the skill of the master hand was easy to see. A very large variety of saxifrage were used, including saxifrage primuloides, Elliott's variety. In the lower reaches there were a great number of primulas, among which such kinds as autumns, involucreata and japonica were in evidence.

George G. Whitelaw had a very imposing rock garden of old grey boulders set in two upstanding cliffs alongside a waterfall. The pool below was of charming outline and there was a cleverly constructed path leading from it to the heights. The chief planting was of large pines at the back with prostrata junipers and compact cypresses towards the front. The alpine plants used were in great variety and included fine specimens of Ramondia, Gentiana scutellaria and Lithospermum prostratum.

There was no water or grass in the exhibit of W. E. Th. Ingwersen, who evidently wished his exhibit to be of plants rather than stone. He, as usual, had a number of interesting things, such as Geum rivale, Leonard's variety, Convolvulus majalis rosea, Phlox Moonlight, and a number of new prostrate veronicas.

A winding stream over a series of low falls was the feature of Messrs.

Vancouver Island News

Alberni

Alberni, June 23.—Funeral services were conducted on Friday afternoon at Alberni Cemetery of Robert Orr of Beaver Creek, who came to this district and blazed trails through virgin forest upwards of thirty years ago. Rev. A. McLean, minister of Alberni United Church, officiated and the pallbearers were all pioneer residents and old friends.

They were Stanley Bayne, Fred Drinkwater, Robert Barby, G. Hamilton, T. R. Flinn, and Arthur Thompson. The late R. Orr was born at Grey County, Ont., seventy years ago and leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, who is the daughter of the late John Shaw, (pioneer teacher at Nanaimo Public Schools for many years, and teacher at Beaver Creek School for seven years); a son Gordon, age twenty-four, at home, and daughter Helen, age twenty-two, at Vancouver.

Mr. L. Hamilton has returned from a visit to Seattle.

W. Sackett of Michigan, and A. S. Killam of Victoria, are visiting in the district.

Capt. and Mrs. H. M. T. Hodgson are placing their spouse gardens at the disposal of the members of the Women's Auxiliary to the West Coast Hospital for a summer fete and garden tea on July 9.

Port Alberni

Port Alberni, June 23.—American Beauty roses formed the colorful floral motives for the luncheon table, on Friday when Mrs. Newell L. Wright entertained at the luncheon hour at her residence at Marpole Hill. Covers were laid for out-of-town guests, Mrs. M. I. Posten and her daughter Verda, of Seattle, and Mrs. H. B. Gourlay, of Kitimat, Vancouver, their hostesses.

Mrs. Floyd Byles Alberni, and Mrs. J. A. McMillan and Mrs. Don McCall. Mrs. Ross Pendleton accompanied by her mother, Mrs. M. Arnold, left on Friday for Seattle where they will spend a week or ten days.

Mrs. C. T. Hilton left on Friday for Victoria to spend the week-end. After spending the last two weeks here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Day, Miss Margaret Jones, of Oaklands, Victoria, left on Saturday for her home at the capital city.

Additional attractions that have been arranged for the garden fete to be held on Tuesday in aid of the Red Cross, in the combined gardens of Mrs. Madamames Wright, West and Pendleton, include roulette, in charge of Mrs. H. Murray and Miss L. Whitworth, assisted by Misses Hobson, Noble, Smith, Guy, Massing, Miss Probert and Miss Brenda Smith. Tea arrangements will be supervised by Mrs. Dawson Turner, assisted by the Misses Agnes Clarkson, Ella and Ericson, Christie Ross, Barbara Griffiths and Kathleen Fleming.

Mrs. E. Kowalschuk will read fortunes by cards, assisted by Madeline Woodford in charge of donations. Croquet will be in play, with Mrs. A. Fleming supervising, while bridge tables will be arranged for devotees of the game from 3.30 until 4.30.

Drawings for cushion covers and a handsome tea cloth will take place during the afternoon. Mrs. C. R. Martin is convener of the affair with her co-workers, Mrs. A. Fleming and Mrs. Jack Beveridge. Mrs. H. G. Cowan of Shaughnessy Heights, Vancouver, accompanied by Mrs. Stephens of Brockville, Ont., are visitors in the city, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. McNaughton.

In compliment to Mrs. E. A. Redman, who is leaving the city, the members of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church were hosts at a surprise banquet and presentation Friday evening at the Church Hall. The social angle presented itself after the regular quilting meeting, with the guest of honor, who is president of the organization, in the chair. A pleasing interlude was provided when Mrs. E. E. Morris made a personal gift of a hand-painted basket, filled with Darwin roses and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. D. Hastie, on behalf of the organization, presented a framed picture with local view, and bouquet of Caroline Testout rose buds, in a pleasing address of eulogistic appreciation of Mrs. Redman's invaluable assistance and executive ability, as leader of the W.M.S. At the banquet which culminated the event, covers were laid for Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Redman, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Wilson, Mrs. H. P. Strain, Mrs. A. H. West, Mrs. C. R. Martin, Mrs. D. W. Hastie, Mrs. W. Piggott, Mrs. J. McDonald, Mrs. E. E. Morris, Mrs. D. S. McPherson, Mrs. A. D. Plant and Mrs. J. McKay.

When Delphiniums Are In Full Bloom

Look your own over, see if they compare with some of the newer and finer varieties now available. Our collections of this kind of perennial plants will indicate some of the possibilities of the Delphinium family. You cannot move them now, of course, but if you want to plant any in the fall, this is the time to choose the individual plants. In this way you will get exactly the ones you like best. And there are other interesting things to see in bloom at our nursery now as well.

"BRITISH PREFERENCE FIRST"

MR. PLUNKETT, FOR VICTORIA CONSUMPTION, says "British Preference First." But Mr. Bennett, whom he admires as "Canada's greatest statesman," does not say so. Nor does the Conservative party, of which Mr. Plunkett considers himself such a loyal follower, say so. In his keynote speech of the Conservative campaign in Winnipeg two weeks ago Mr. Bennett made it clear that he would not give any British preference at all unless Britain gave a preference in return.

Mr. Bennett said on that occasion: "If the policy of the government means that we should admit free into our markets empire goods in competition with our own, without securing a real benefit to ourselves and without obtaining a preferred place in their markets for our products, then I oppose it, as did Macdonald. For it is not good for Canada . . . mutuality of benefits, without them there can be no lasting treaties."

The Conservative party cannot work two policies on the British preference—the official party policy in the manufacturing centres of the East from the mouth of Mr. Bennett, and an opposite one in Victoria from Mr. Plunkett intended to attract local sentiment. It is highly complimentary to the Liberals, of course, to have Mr. Plunkett give his endorsement to Liberal policy; but political sincerity is lacking when a party seeks to attract votes by preaching preference where preference is popular, and preaching non-preference where exclusion is popular.

On this issue, incidentally, Mr. Plunkett is drifting to the ridiculous position in which he found himself when Premier Tolmie added greatly to his political discomfort in connection with his stand on the salmon treaty, finally forcing him to recant.

In his expressed approval of the Liberal preference policy, Mr. Plunkett has the assurance that it has been a policy of the Liberal party not only first, but last, and all the time for all Canada, since its introduction by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1897 and, unlike the Conservative opposition to it, it has not been modified by Liberal speakers to court sectional support.

Contrasted with Mr. Bennett's pronouncement, is the statement of Liberal policy by Premier MacKenzie King at Brantford, as follows:

"But in the absence of any such proposals from Great Britain, the Liberal party stands for the policy which is not only of benefit to Canadian consumers and to inter-imperial trade with its beneficial effects to the British Empire as a whole, but a policy which is vitally related to the maintenance of a British market for Canadian wheat and other commodities of export. The essential point is that Canada must enlarge her imports from the Mother Country in order that she may enlarge her exports to the Mother Country."

The difficulty Mr. Plunkett faces, of course, is Victoria's staunch support of the British Preference, while Mr. Bennett and the Conservative party are opposed to it. Hence, Mr. Plunkett feels he must do a considerable amount of side-stepping if he is to climb on the band-wagon here.

DIMINISHING THRILLS

IT HAS BEEN WRITTEN THAT WHEN mankind becomes used to a new invention it refuses to get excited about it. A case in point is the triangular flight from the Old World to the New of the Graf Zeppelin. The thrills of the earlier flights of this great airship on this occasion were missing. It was realized that Dr. Eckener would bring his craft to safety no matter in what direction he might point her nose.

The lesson in the exploits of the Graf Zeppelin seems to be that every new device necessarily first of all must pass through the "toy" stage before it can hope to be developed on practical lines. Take the automobile, for instance. Not very many years ago youngsters were running many blocks to get a glance at this new wonder on wheels, which since so completely has replaced Old Dobbin. So we have reached a stage in human existence which permits us to thrill at novelties for only a very short time.

MR. BENNETT SCENTS AN ANOMALY

IN THE RECENT RUSH AND BUSTLE of dissolution at Ottawa certain speeches which would have received wide attention at ordinary times were overshadowed by preparations for the election. Read at leisure in Hansard, the debate on Canada's status in the Empire, for instance, is seen to be of very great significance. More of it, perhaps, will be heard during the campaign, and it is worth while now to understand the broad outlines of this matter.

At the Imperial Conference of 1926, it will be recalled, complete equality of status of the overseas Dominions with Britain was formally declared to the world. One tangible step to implement this declaration was taken immediately when the Governor-General of Canada became the representative of the King, and not of the British government which, instead, appointed a representative of its own at Ottawa. To arrange the legal details of this new Empire relationship, the Conference appointed a committee of experts who, in due course, reported. Their report came before the Canadian Parliament not long ago, and it recommended a few minor changes in Canadian statutes. These were designed to put into law the status of Canada as declared by the Conference, and already existing in fact.

The main argument raised against these proposals in Parliament by Hon. R. B. Bennett, the Conservative leader, was curious. He complained, in brief, that Canada could not claim an equal status with Britain so long as Canada's constitution could not be altered without the approval of the British Parliament. So long as that limitation on the powers of the Canadian Parliament existed, he argued, it was folly to attempt to declare by statute that equal status existed. And he warned Parliament against injuring the feelings of the Motherland by adopting the government's proposals and the report of the Imperial Conference committee.

The last argument may be dismissed first. Britain, of course, will not be offended by any such action on the part of Canada, especially when Canada is expressing in a far more tangible way, through a further reduction of the duty on British goods, her attitude towards the imperial association. The other argument, that Canada should not implement her equal status because this will create a legal anomaly, disregards the entire history of British institutions. To question a development of government because, according to the strict letter of the law it may seem anomalous, is to question the most successful system of government mankind has yet known. Government in all British countries is full of anomalies. According to the strict letter of the law, it does not provide at all for certain emergencies, and in many places it provides theoretical kinds of powers utterly at variance with its essential democracy. But the important thing about these anomalies is that they work, and work satisfactorily, where the carefully-prepared written constitution of other countries fail to work. If our race has any genius at all, it is for government, and in government that characteristic which distinguishes it from other races is its mastery of compromise, its ability to develop institutions as the problems of human life develop. For centuries we have prospered and enjoyed the fullest measure of freedom under anomalous arrangements which amaze the foreigner, but which we understand.

CONTROLLING THE MACHINE

THE MACHINE AGE, SAYS AN OBSERVANT writer in Current History, has poured a cornucopia of new commodities into our laps, but with them more woe than happiness. "When," he adds, "one looks at the ravages of the World War, the desolating ugliness of most industrial districts, the monotonous dreariness of much factory work, the vast train of misery which flows from unemployment, the unrewarding nature of mechanized recreation, the chaos into which our religious and ethical standards have been cast by the pressure of modern industry—these things overbalance for the day-by-day life of the average human being the gains of a greater flood of commodities, a somewhat lopsided prosperity, a lifting of back-breaking toil in certain areas, a decline in illiteracy and a truly splendid advance in science and applied technology."

With that verdict many people, perhaps most people, will not agree. But it outlines in fairly specific terms a question which governments, students of history, and the man on the street are asking themselves the world over—can we control the machine, or will the machine eventually control us? Everywhere it is realized that the industrial revolution of the last century, which was expected to free mankind from drudgery and poverty, has unleashed into civilization forces which mankind had never known before. We are just beginning to understand them in a vague kind of way and are trying as best we can to master them before they master us. The writer quoted believes that in the end we shall achieve the noblest civilization the world has ever seen, provided the four great menaces—war, over-speculation, failure of natural resources and unemployment, can be controlled. Failing that control, he says, we may go down in an equally spectacular crash.

The surest guarantee that we shall not go down in such a crash is that the need of controlling these things is everywhere recognized. In working for world peace, in struggling with unemployment, in raising the living standard of the great mass of the people, in seeking to direct production and prevent surpluses, in striving for orderly marketing, in various experiments with tariffs and taxation, the leading nations of the world are all grappling with the problems of the machine age in one way or another. It is incredible that the combined energy and experience of our civilization will not master these things. And the fact that such problems confront us in an aggravated form is no reason for discouragement, for civilization itself is a continual series of new problems which grow one out of another, just as human life has been a synthetic problem from its beginning.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

AN EMPTY LOYALTY
The Regina Leader-Post

In view of the vigorous opposition of the Conservative Party to Canada's proposals for increasing trade between this country and Great Britain, it is to be expected that the party will, in the present general election campaign, engage in less flag-waving than has traditionally been its wont.

THE BOARD ON STRATEGY AND WESTERN ONTARIO
The London Advertiser

Conservative tacticians have been sadly disappointed by the Progressives and United Farmers in this part of the country. They have been hoping and scheming for three-cornered contests in Western Ontario constituencies, but in few cases do the U.F.O. Progressives seem willing to oblige. It is easy, too easy, to discern what is in the master minds that direct Conservative campaign manoeuvres. They know that men and women who vote for Progressive and U.F.O. candidates are much nearer Liberal than Conservative views on public questions, particularly on tariff questions, and that in constituencies where the older parties are nearly evenly divided third-party candidates are likely in the present election to work to the government's disadvantage. Of course, Progressives and United Farmers are as aware of this as are the Tories, and not many of them are eager to help a party which is opposed to the British preference and to the policy of wider markets for Canadian products which is essential to Canadian agriculture. One of the principal planks of the United Farmers is the increase of the British preference to 50 per cent. The King Government has gone a long way toward meeting that demand.

REPLIES TO "JOURNEYMAN PLUMBER"

To the Editor:—Will you please allow me a little space to reply to a letter by "Journeyman Plumber" in Saturday's issue.

It is not my intention to discuss the pros and cons of the bylaw now before the city council as that is being looked after by very capable citizens, but the part of the letter which reflects on the city-plumbing department cannot be allowed to pass without comment.

For many years we have had a capable and rigid inspection of plumbing in Victoria, carried out by Mr. Bart and his associates, and have never heard a case where the health of the city has suffered through their work. Therefore it becomes anyone to criticize these officials under a nom de plume.

If "Journeyman Plumber" considers there is anything wrong with the department, let him come out in the open, let his complaints before the city council, and give the men concerned a fair chance to defend themselves.

F. DRYSDALE WINS SHOOT

Scores 99 at Heal's Range on Saturday to Lead Brother Bert By One Point

Despite extremely adverse weather conditions, scores were well up to average at Heal's Range on Saturday. A tricky wind and poor light combined to make things hard for the marksmen, but Pte. F. Drysdale managed to score a fine 99 to take the weekly honors by a margin of one point from his brother, Bert.

This was the second Canadian Rifle League match for the Canadian Scottish, their ten best scores counting. Full scores follow:

When a Gum-Dipped cord is immersed in an acid solution immediately after use, it is completely insulated with rubber on which the acid has no effect.

An ordinary cord immersed in the same solution immediately after use, is completely insulated with rubber on which the acid has no effect.

Even though Firestone cords are of superior strength and elasticity before they are built into Firestone Tires, they go through the Gum-Dipping process for added strength and endurance.

Gum-Dipping—exclusive to Firestone Tires—saturates and insulates every fibre of every cord in the tire. This prevents the cords from chafing against each other and eliminates internal friction and heat—the greatest enemy to tire life.

Thus Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have double reasons for their toughness, ruggedness and unequalled mileage—by actual test they hold all world's records for mileage and endurance! Specify Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires on your car. See your nearest Firestone Dealer today.

BENNETT ENDS WESTERN TOUR AT BRANDON

Federal Conservative Leader Heard by Audience in Manitoba City

Brandon, Man., June 23.—Concluding his election tour in western Canada, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, addressed a meeting in the auditorium here Saturday evening.

It was the eleventh speech of his campaign and at midnight Mr. Bennett departed for Toronto to start his speaking tour of Ontario.

A denunciation of "backyard whippersnappers" that the Conservatives would place a C.P.R. man at the head of the Canadian National system and advocacy of the Mafeking cut-off as a short route from Manitoba to the Hudson Bay Railway, found a place in the speech of Mr. Bennett. At the same time the opposition leader said he had been surprised at a statement in the House of Commons by Hon. James Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce, that Canada's trade commissioners were not pushing forward the sale of the Dominion's grain.

"What are our trade commissioners for?" Mr. Bennett asked. "Let us put Gro's Nest rates into effect on the Hudson Bay Railway. Let us finish the port. Let us get the lowest possible insurance rates and aids to navigation without delay."

"The basic industry of agriculture must be developed," he said, and cheaper transportation through the St. Lawrence waterways project and development of Canadian ports were also essential.

ATTITUDE TOWARD RAILWAYS

In 1927, on assuming the role of Conservative chief, he said, he had diverted himself of all stocks, bonds and securities of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. "Why?" he asked. "Because I never wanted to be in a position where the claim of other interests interfered with public interests."

Mr. Bennett said he again wished to deny any suggestion that he was opposed to the Hudson Bay Railway.

"Why," he said, "the first speech I made in Parliament in 1911 was in support of the building of the Hudson Bay Railway. I have lived in this country for a quarter of a century and I know the hopes and aspirations of the people in that regard."

"And how is your husband getting on with his reducing exercises, Mrs. Nuequids?"

"You'd be surprised—that battle-ship 'ad tattooed on 'is chest is now only a row boat!"

Improved Forest Fire Conditions In All B.C. Districts

Forest fire conditions in the Province continue to be good, according to figures released by the forest branch, which show that the number of fires to date this year is considerably less than for the corresponding period last year. The improvement is most marked in the southern interior district, where there have been almost seventy less fires than in the same period in 1929. In 1928, an abnormally good year, there were 318 fires at this date. Last year the number had risen to 472, while for the current season the figure stands at 403.

A report from the forest branch says that although there was a slight hazard in the southern interior and Vancouver districts last week, conditions are generally good with indications of continued cool and showery weather throughout the greater part of the Province.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Light to moderate winds, partly cloudy and moderately warm, with showers to-night or Saturday.

The steamer Hyades, Captain G. Wright, arrived at the Outer Wharf yesterday from the Far East. She brought no passengers but 800 tons of general cargo.

Two matters of unusual importance came up at last evening's meeting of the public works committee of the City Council. The first was the announcement that it would be impossible to continue with the original plan of sewerage Spring Ridge, and the decision, upon Mayor Barnard's suggestion, to submit a by-law, providing for the borrowing of $100,000 for the construction of another water main.

Captain J. W. Troup to-day informed The Times that the contract for the new steamer to be built in Victoria for the C.P.R. has not yet been let, but will be shortly. The vessel will be built this summer, and will cost $225,000. This statement shows that the C.P.R. look upon Victoria as a place very well equipped to provide them with the class of steamers they require for their business.

There was a large attendance at the Work Point grounds to witness the annual sports of the Garrison. The weather was ideal and a pleasant time was spent both by participants and spectators.

In a baseball game played at Vancouver between Vancouver and Bellingham teams yesterday afternoon, was won by the latter by a score of 4-3.

Good Catches of Sockeye Forecast As Season Opens

Early Reports Received By J. P. Babcock Indicate Anticipations of Good Salmon Run Will Be Realized. Estimates Based On Detailed Records of Fraser and Skeena Rivers and Rivers Inlet.

The sockeye salmon fishing season opened in the north last Friday and word has been received by J. P. Babcock, Assistant Commissioner of Fisheries, from the Skeena that the fishermen made good catches that day.

"The sockeye runs to the Fraser River system this year will be derived largely from the spawning in 1928," Mr. Babcock says. "In that year there was an increase in the pack over that of its brood-year, 1927, largely because of the appearance of a large run late in the season, and there was a larger escapement than usual at that time, notably to Adams and Little rivers in the Shuswap area, in consequence of which there is good reason to anticipate a good return from the sockeye this year. We await the final returns for the season with unusual interest to see not only if there is an increase in the run but also if it occurs late in the season as it did in 1928."

Referring to the Skeena, Mr. Babcock said: "The sockeye runs to the Skeena consist of four-year old and five-year old fish—hence the run there this year will consist of fish from the spawnings of 1925 and 1926. In 1925 the catch of sockeye produced a pack of 81,446 cases and the report of Dr. Clemens shows that the five-year old fish in that run constituted 47 per cent of the catch. In 1926 the pack was 82,580 cases and the four-year old fish formed 70 per cent of the catch. In both those years the spawning bed reports of the department show that both the Babine and Lakelse were well seeded. There would therefore appear, Dr. Clemens reports, to be good reason to expect a fair run to the Skeena in 1930, a pack approximately of 75,000 cases."

"In their forecast of the sockeye run to Rivers Inlet this year, Dr. Clemens state that the year 1930 belongs to the five-year cycle 1915-1920 and 1925, in which the five-year class has always been large—from 77 to 95 per cent—hence we may look for a very large pack this year. Without taking the brood-year, 1926, into account, the expectancy would be a pack of 125,000 cases from the 1928 seedling. In 1926 the pack was small—65,561 cases, and the seedling reported as only fair. In consequence the four-year old fish probably cannot be expected to bring the total pack up to more than 150,000 to 160,000 cases."

"These estimates," Mr. Babcock concluded, "are based on Dr. Clemens' detailed records giving the age-classes of the catches made on the Fraser and Skeena River and Rivers Inlet."

Langford

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held in their hall on Dunford Road on Tuesday, June 24, at 2 o'clock. After important business Adjutant John Shapp will speak of the work of the Salvation Army.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon has promised to give a demonstration on the making of salads. Visitors are invited to be present. A meeting of parents of children attending the public school was called by Miss L. Peasey, principal, on Friday afternoon. Arrangements were made for the school picnic, which will be held on Friday, June 27, at the Ocean Beach Lagoon. Cars will leave the schools at 12:15 o'clock, and all offers of additional transportation will be "thankfully received" by Miss Peasey. Two private cars will leave at 2 o'clock for the benefit of those parents who cannot leave earlier. Everyone is requested to bring their own cup and spoon. As each lady at the meeting promises a salad, cake or sandwich, she is asked for the supper, which will be at 5 o'clock.

Miss Helen Newbury is spending a vacation at her home on Dunford Road.

Under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute an illustrated lecture with lantern slides will be given in the Institute Hall on Dunford Road on Wednesday, June 25, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. M. Tillmont-Thomson will be the lecturer, and will speak and show views of the "Cathedrals of England." There will be no charge of admission, but a collection will be taken to defray expenses.

Mrs. Currie and daughter from Ladysmith are visiting Mrs. Henry Pike of "Larkhall," Millstream Road.

Charles W. Stewart of Vancouver is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Le Queuse, Millstream Road. Langford district Girl Guides were present at a meeting held at Langford Lakeside on Saturday afternoon. Particulars of the summer camp, which will be held July 25 to July 28 at Bradley Dyke, Deep Cove, was given by the local captain, Mrs. R. F. Reynolds. Many of the girls hope to attend it. Promises of help at the Solarium fete, to be held at the home of Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen on July 9, and also for the novelty tea to be held on July 25, under the auspices of the St. Matthew's Guild at the home of Mrs. J. E. Macdonald, Langford Lake, were given by the corps. Instruction was given to the new recruits, and a welcome extended to a Guide staying at Goldstream from Miss Leighton's Company.

In compliment to Mrs. W. T. Dixon, of Bryn Mawr Farm, who is shortly leaving on a trip to England, Mrs. H. A. Hinks of Holmwood, will be at home on Monday afternoon, June 23, from 3 till 5 o'clock. St. Aidan's Cricket team on Wednesday was defeated by the Hudson's Bay eleven who scored 90 runs to St. Aidan's 87. P. Ashley Sparks, captain, contributed 61 of the runs made by St. Aidan's team.

WEDDING HELD AT ST. COLUMBA

Miss Marjorie Plaxton of Strawberry Vale Bride of Wilfred C. Cliff

A wedding of interest was solemnized in St. Columba Church, Strawberry Vale, on Saturday evening, when Rev. F. Conley united in marriage Marjorie May, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Plaxton, Helen Road, to Wilfred Charles Cliff, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff, Strawberry Vale.

Entering the church to the strains of the Wedding March the bride, given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white satin, with fitted bodice the skirt with a lace flounce and unweave hem line drooping at the back. Her veil of white embroidered net was caught with a circlet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses, sweet peas and fern.

Miss Lucille Plaxton, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid in a dress of pale pink satin and net, carrying a bouquet of sweet peas, delphiniums and fern, with a wreath of silver leaves in her hair. The Misses Nora and Violet Cliff, twin sisters of the groom, made dainty flower girls in dresses of blue organdy and carrying baskets of sweet peas. Mr. Elmer Plaxton, brother of the bride, attended the groom.

During the signing of the register Miss Ellen Bennett sang very sweetly "Blessed" with Mr. Maurice Foster at the organ. Mr. Austin Graham acted as usher. The church was tastefully decorated with red and white roses and baskets of peonies. The bride's party standing beneath an arch of roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Strawberry Vale Hall, which had been decorated with festoons of white paper, balloons, Japanese lanterns and roses, the bride's party receiving the congratulations of their friends beneath an arch of roses. A large white ball was suspended over a table decorated with sweet peas and roses and centred with a three-tier wedding cake. Mrs. Plaxton, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Cliff, mother of the groom, seated in receiving the guests.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS PICNIC

First United Scholars Spend
Day at Willows Beach

The intermediate department of the First United Sunday School held a very successful picnic at the Willows Beach last Saturday. About one hundred persons were present and enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The main event of the day was the distribution of the ice cream cones and the servers had an exceedingly hard task. Following are the results of the sports events which were held, prizes being made possible through the generosity of the members of the church.

Girls' race—12 to 15, first, Doreen Bear; second, Jean Wilson.
Boys' race—12 to 15, first, Jim Skelton; second, Ray Perry.
Girls' skipping race—Under 15, first, Doreen Bear; second, Jean Wilson.
Boys' sack race—First, Tommy Hinton; second, Jim Skelton.

Boys' broad jump—First, Bill Findlay; second, Alan Griffin.

Three-legged race—Doreen Bear and Jean Wilson.
Wheelbarrow race—Alice and Jim Skelton.
Consolation race—Isobel Gibson.

The officials for the sports programme were J. Walker, D. McKinnon and Bob Whyte.
Juvenile A.O.F.—The next meeting of Court Canada Excelsior No. 1 will be held in the A.O.F. Hall on Friday next, at 7:30 o'clock. The brooch and knife, presented by the District Chief Ranger, Brother Tippet, will be drawn for and presented during the evening. The meeting will be followed by an ice cream social.

An Alberta farmer recently hooked up thirty-six horses in one line and hauled 900 bushels of wheat to market.

YOUR BABY and MINE

Mrs. M.P.H. will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

TAKE A SENSIBLE ATTITUDE ON THE SEX QUESTION

Despite the present-day enlightened attitude toward giving sex information to children, we cannot force these viewpoints upon everyone. The mother must be convinced that the authorities, who have dealt with thousands of children and discovered the benefits of answering honestly their questions about life, are in a position to give her a sane and healthy attitude toward this subject. Unless she is convinced, she simply cannot give this important information, which is so vitally essential to any discussion of this nature.

Information given reluctantly in hushed tones by a mother who herself feels she is telling something awful, had best not be given.

It is unusual, though, to find any mother to-day who really considers her children innocent because she hasn't given them this information. That is equivalent to wearing blinders and then ignoring the fact that she can't or won't look at children cannot live in a world, under any ordinary circumstances, and fall to ferret out the answers to questions that are so important to them. They are stimulated a thousand times daily to a curiosity about everything, and sex and birth are wondered about as early as almost anything else connected with the child.

STEAM LAUNDRY WORKERS PICNIC

ODD FELLOWS WILL PICNIC AT OCEAN BEACH ON JULY 1

Members of Victoria Lodge No. 1 will hold a basket picnic at Ocean Beach on July 1. Transportation will be provided for those who do not own cars, and the committee requests that all brothers assemble at Odd Fellows Hall at 10 o'clock. Those requiring transportation will facilitate matters by phoning Bro. J. S. McKinnon, 1470, or Bro. A. Sedgley at 4737.

The committee invites all members of No. 1 Lodge, with their wives and children, to enjoy the outing. Arrangements have been made to return to town at 7 o'clock.
A fine programme of games, races and sports has been drawn up by the committee and one of the main features will be supplied, but those attending should include cups and saucers in their baskets of provisions.

Jellied Salads
What could be cooler on a hot night than a chilled, jellied salad? Thinly sliced cucumbers, jellied with diced tomatoes in unseasoned lemon gelatin, make a fine salad. Salt, pepper and add a few drops of onion juice before it jells.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY
Vacation days bring new angles to many problems faced by mothers and the luncheon problem is no exception. Many children are allowed more freedom than during school days. The lunch hour is not so regular, "bed-time" is not so strictly enforced, and the temptation to eat between meals is trying.

In most families, the hearty meal comes at the end of the day, and the child who comes to the family table presents a somewhat difficult question. Children need a hearty noon meal. Hours of active play in the fresh air stimulate the appetite and enliven energy, and nourishing food is necessary. But unless special meals are prepared for children, the noon meal is the light one and they eat a hearty evening dinner with the grown-up members of the family.

Every child should have in his diet every day one quart of milk; at least three vegetables, one of which may be potatoes; and one of the others green or raw; two fruits, one preferably raw; one serving of meat, fish or eggs; a whole grain cereal; three slices of bread or toast, and four glasses of water.

The milk may be used over vegetables, in soups or in desserts if the child does not like to drink milk allotted.

All the foods are better served as simply as possible.
A very easy way to plan a child's luncheon menu is to include in it those articles of food in his daily requirement that are not served at breakfast or dinner when the entire family is together. If he is given his broiled chop or meat cake at noon, he may have the dinner vegetables provided for the rest of the family.

The luncheon dessert can be counted as the "main dish" for much nourishment can be put into a pudding. Raw vegetables, such as carrots, soaked vegetable and a milk and egg dessert supply a satisfactory luncheon when the dinner is hearty.

Keep in mind that luncheon dishes should be easily digested, for the meal comes at the hottest time of the day. Insist on fifteen minutes rest before the meal and half an hour's quietness in the shade after the meal.

In sweetening desserts for children, it is far better to make it not sweet enough than too sweet. If more sugar is needed to make it palatable, the children will like to sprinkle it with sugar themselves when eating it.

Baked Custard
Two cups milk, 2 eggs, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 teaspoon salt, buttered bread, cinnamon.
Beat eggs slightly with sugar, salt and vanilla. Add milk and stir until sugar is dissolved. Turn into a buttered baking dish and cover with thin round slices of buttered bread, butter side up. Sprinkle lightly with sugar and cinnamon and bake in pan of hot water in a moderate oven. When firm to the touch the custard is done. It will take about 40 minutes. Serve cold.

Electric Shock Causes Changes in Central Nervous System

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
As electricity comes more and more into human life, it is being recognized that it is the duty of preventive medicine to protect the public against its unusual hazards. An exact understanding of these hazards involves a considerable amount of research as to the effects of electrical currents on human tissue.

A study of this character has just been completed in the department of neurology of Johns Hopkins University, which indicates that various types of current have different effects. The circuit supplying homes and factories is commonly of 110 or 220 volts, either alternating or continuous current. As has been pointed out previously in these articles under certain circumstances a 100-volt circuit may prove fatal.

Dr. O. R. Langworthy made a series of investigations on rats with alternating and continuous current. He points out that many fatal accidents from contact with electricity are attributed to the manner in which the heart action is disturbed. Circuits at high voltages are prone to cause death due to the inability to breathe because of disturbance of the nervous system.

As a result of his studies, Doctor Langworthy found that alternating and continuous currents produce different types of lesions in the central nervous system. Hemorrhages were common after alternating current shocks, but few hemorrhages were observed after shock with a continuous current.

With either type of potentials of 1,000 and of 500 volts, very serious changes took place in the nerve cells. The changes were more severe after the continuous circuit shock.

With continuous and alternating current at 110 and 220 volts, less severe changes were observed, but, as has been mentioned, hemorrhages were common in the cases in which alternating current had been used. The effect of the damage to the cells of the nervous system is to interfere with the proper kind of breathing and thereby to bring about death.

Toronto Man Says He Suffered Night and Day

W. F. CARTER

"My health went back on me four years ago and in spite of all the medicines I took I continued steadily on the down grade. Then I started the new medicine Sargon, gained eleven pounds and just feel great!" recently stated W. F. Carter, 676 Spadina Avenue, Toronto. Mr. Carter is connected with the Canadian branch of F. F. Collier & Son.

"Just what started my breakdown in health I do not know, but I do know this—I commenced having pains across the small of my back from one side of my body to the other, and I spent many a miserable day and night suffering with my gall bladder. Then, rheumatic pains in my shoulders added to my misery, and it seemed like I never was free of one kind of pain or another. My stomach got out of order and my digestion seemed to go 'all to pieces.' I didn't have much appetite and didn't really enjoy anything I ate—it just didn't taste good. I finally got where I almost dreaded to go to the table because of the suffering I knew would follow. My nerves gave way one day, and for a long time I'd seldom ever get to sleep before daylight. My liver was 'now acting,' I was continually bothered with headaches and dizzy spells, I lost weight and my strength and energy almost went completely back on me.

"Just when I was beginning to think I would never get my health and strength back, I kept hearing so much about Sargon that I felt like I owed it to myself to give the medicine a trial, and I could feel it strengthening and invigorating my whole system. My appetite gradually returned, the pains across my back and in my side and shoulders lessened and I commenced feeling almost like a different man. I have taken four bottles of Sargon along with pills now and my improvement has been remarkable! I eat and enjoy three hearty meals every day, all my stomach trouble has disappeared, every ache and pain in my body is gone and my weight has increased from 118 to 129 pounds! My nerves are strengthened and I can't remember when I have enjoyed more restful and refreshing sleep. I have never seen such medicine for building up a rundown, fagged-out system!

"Sargon Pills toned up my liver, headaches and dizziness are things of the past, and I'll be glad to tell anybody that asks me what this remarkable Sargon treatment has done for me."

Sargon is being distributed throughout Canada, as rapidly as possible, with the needs of their customers' interest in their minds. Canada's leading drug firms—including internationally known chain store organizations and progressive, wide-awake druggists in the smaller cities and towns are writing and wiring in, expressing their eagerness to be among the first to supply Sargon to their trade.

Sargon may be obtained at all Ovi Drug Stores in Victoria and Vancouver and Sears Drug Co., at New Westminster.

Brooklyn Find Bench To Remain On Top In National

Robins Come Out Of Slump To Hold Off All Threats

Chicago On Heels of Leaders For Two Days, Drop Two and a Half Games Behind Through Defeat at Hands of Boston; Robins Come From Behind To Beat Philadelphia; Herman and Frederick Hit Home Runs; Yankees Divide Doubleheader With St. Louis But Gain On A's Who Lose to Cleveland.

Considering the closeness of the rivalry among the National League clubs, the tenure of Brooklyn as leader of the circuit is something really remarkable. The Robins, who caused something of a surprise when they first gained the top, have shown the way to their rivals for nearly a month despite numerous threats to their security.

In the last two days, the Chicago Cubs, who have been right on Brooklyn's heels, had a big chance to assume the lead after Brooklyn had tossed away a few games through careless fielding. But the Robins tightened up and won three contests while the Cubs failed to stand the strain of pursuit and dropped to two and a half games behind yesterday with a 3 to 1 defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves, while Brooklyn was downing Pittsburgh 9 to 6.

Brooklyn came from behind yesterday, braced by two more home runs by Babe Herman and one by Johnny Frederick, to score six runs in the seventh and eighth innings off Larry Franch, Pirate pitcher. The Cubs made two homers off the delivery of Fred Frankhouse, one of them was Hack Wilson's twenty-first of the season, but they could not get any other counters, while the Braves' ten hits scored in three different innings.

GIANTS GAIN GROUND
The New York Giants picked up a game on the Cubs, remaining three games behind, by putting on a performance similar to Brooklyn's.

They got to Fenck Frey in the seventh and eight for three runs at a time and took a 4 to 3 decision from Cincinnati. The St. Louis Cardinals took two games from Philadelphia. The Cards won by scores of 12 to 3 and 9 to 3. Flint Rhem and Burleigh Grimes, the latter making his first start for St. Louis, held the Phillies well under control.

The Detroit Tigers altered the American League standing a bit by winning a pair of games from the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3 and 4 to 2. The double triumph, which St. Louis was dividing a twin bill with the New York Yankees, put the Tigers into fifth place. A homer by Gehring provided the margin in the short second contest.

CLEVELAND BREAKS STRIKE
Despite their even break, the New York Yankees picked up a half game on the leading Philadelphia Athletics, who moved to Cleveland for Sunday and dropped the final contest to the Indians, 4 to 2. Warrel broke Cleveland's losing streak, holding the champions to seven hits.

The Yankees scored all their runs in one inning to win the first, 5 to 4, after Guille had dropped a fly that would have retired the side. But the Yanks could not make their 12 hits count in the second contest and lost by a 5 to 2 count.

Washington, with Ad Liska pitching a five-hit game and Art Shires leading the attack on the Cubs with three home runs that drove in four runs, made an even greater advance by trouncing the Chicago White Sox, 10 to 3. They picked up a full game on the Athletics, resting 2½ games behind the leaders, and only a half game behind the Yankees.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Boston, Mass., June 23.—Detroit took a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox 5 to 3 and 4 to 2 here yesterday. The second game was called at the end of the sixth inning because of the Sunday sports law.

Mill Gaston for the Sox and Whitehill for the Tigers pitched gilt-edged ball in the first game, but their support was lacking.

ST. LOUIS MO. JUNE 23—The Cardinals hit hard behind first-rate pitching yesterday and conquered the Philadelphia Phillies, 12 to 3 and 9 to 2.

After a rather shaky start, Burleigh Grimes settled down in the nightcap and no doubt winning.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—The Cardinals hit hard behind first-rate pitching yesterday and conquered the Philadelphia Phillies, 12 to 3 and 9 to 2.

After a rather shaky start, Burleigh Grimes settled down in the nightcap and no doubt winning.

CHICAGO, ILL. JUNE 23—After losing four games in three days to the Cubs, the Boston Braves came back yesterday to defeat the champions, 5 to 2.

In the final game of their series, the defeat showed the Cubs two and one-half games behind first place as the league-leading Brooklyn Robins defeated Pittsburgh, 9 to 6.

BROOKLYN, N.Y. JUNE 23—On the power supplied by terrific slugging in the late innings, the Robins came from behind to beat Pittsburgh yesterday by the score of 9 to 6.

Babe Herman hit two home runs, bringing his total for the season to 15. Fredrick also hit a homer off Larry French, who pitched the whole game for Pittsburgh.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, JUNE 23—The Giants closed the day for 500 Jackson. The club's eighth by trimming the Reds, 6 to 4, with Bennie Frey, Jackson resident, performing on the mound for the Reds on "Bennie Frey Day."

Frey held the Giants in check for six innings, but they broke loose in the seventh and bunched two singles and two doubles to score three times and tie the score and then forged ahead in the eighth by adding three more on a base on balls, a single, a sacrifice, a two-bagger and a single in rapid succession.

SEMI'S ARE REACHED IN CLUB MEET

Edwards, Gordon and Hocking Are Semi-finalists in Victoria Club Tennis

Gordon Engages in Battle Royal With Paul Phillips; Other Matches Close

Saturday's play in the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's Championships brought out the best tennis of the tournament to date and kept a gallery interested during the entire afternoon. The players reached the semi-finals in the men's open singles but only after the closest of battles.

Edwards, Gordon and Hocking won their way into the round before the finals by victories that reached the three-set stage.

The Edwards-Corfield match was by far the best and was well contested during the first two sets but Corfield fell in the third.

COAST LEAGUE
Sacramento, June 23.—Seattle and Sacramento divided yesterday's doubleheader, the Senators winning the morning game at Stockton, 4-2, and the Indians taking the climax of an eight-game series, 6-2.

Lefty Tom Flynn had things his own way in the morning, while in the afternoon game he was in danger, although frequently in trouble because of walks.

WASHINGTON, JUNE 23—Washington took a lopsided game from Chicago yesterday, 12 to 3, to even up the series.

CHICAGO, ILL. JUNE 23—The Cardinals hit hard behind first-rate pitching yesterday and conquered the Philadelphia Phillies, 12 to 3 and 9 to 2.

ST. LOUIS, MO. JUNE 23—The Cardinals hit hard behind first-rate pitching yesterday and conquered the Philadelphia Phillies, 12 to 3 and 9 to 2.

GLASGOW RANGERS END BRILLIANT TOUR WITH WIN OVER U.S. CHAMPS

New York, June 23.—The Glasgow Rangers completed a brilliant tour of Canada and the United States by easily defeating Fall River 6 to 1 at the Polo Grounds yesterday before 12,000 people for the fourteenth straight victory of their invasion.

Jimmy Smith stood out as the big hero through scoring four great goals, while Fleming bagged a pair.

Archie Stark did the trick for the U.S. champions. The Scottish champions sailed at midnight on board the Cunard liner Berengaria for home.

the WALL

Three members of the Big Six did very well by themselves yesterday and took a step toward drawing the extremes of the standing closer together.

While the leader, Chuck Klein, was dropping four points to 41 by going hitless in the first game of a doubleheader and getting two out of four in the second, and Mickey Cochrane was kept idle, Paul Waner and Bill Terry rose a few points in the standing.

Each went to bat four times and hit twice, Waner going up three points and Terry two. Babe Ruth, who walked three times in one game, hit two out of five in a doubleheader to gain one point.

Sam Rice, the sixth member, lost ground going to bat but once, and failing to hit then.

Clive Brook Seen
In Sleuth Role At Coliseum Theatre

Popular Mystery Story "The Return of Sherlock Holmes"
Showing This Week

Sherlock Holmes, the world renowned detective, waited till his forty-second birthday to make his first appearance in the all-talking motion picture. In 1887 Sir A. Conan Doyle presented him in his first story, "A Study in Scarlet." Many other popular tales followed.

Now this popular detective character can be seen and heard at the Coliseum Theatre, in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." Clive Brook is cast in the role of the super man-hunter and you will meet most of the characters from the books, such as Sergeant Gipper, Dr. Watson, Moriarty and Solly Chess-cake.

In Clever Comedy

Playhouse Showing "Molly and Me" With Good Cast
Until Wednesday

"Molly and Me," the Tiffany-Stahl picture opening to-day at the Playhouse Theatre and playing until Wednesday night, stars Belle Bennett in the role of Molly and presents Joe E. Brown as Jim, who is the "Me" of the title. Molly and Jim made an agreement with their marriage vows that, if either ever wanted freedom, it was to be asked for and granted without question.

For fifteen years they toured the small towns in their cheap little burlesque show, but always happy, always deeply, wonderfully in love with each other—and then their dreams of fame came true for Jim. But, with fame, came a rift in love's lute and Molly begins to wonder if she isn't only so much excess baggage.

Over 250 Spend Day at Willows Beach on Annual Picnic

Over 250 happy children left the Quadra School in buses at 1 o'clock on Wednesday for the Willows Beach Park as the guests of the Quadra Parent-Teacher Association at the annual picnic held under the auspices of the P.T.A.

Well arranged races with appropriate prizes occupied the first part of the afternoon, after which bathing and swimming was enjoyed by the majority of the children, several younger children industriously working on sand castles, for which prizes were given.

Ice cream and candy were liberally dispensed, and tea, milk and sugar provided for all. The smaller children were made happy when they each received a bright colored pin wheel.

There was an exceptionally large turnout of parents, and when the whistle announced that the tea was ready, the children joined their par-

IS FEATURE AT THE CAPITOL

John Boles and Laura La Plante in a scene from "Captain of the Guard" which is the feature screen offering at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

CAPITOL SHOWS WAR EPIC WITH ALL STAR CAST

John Boles and Laura La Plante Have Leading Role in
"Captain of the Guard"

Mighty Spectacle of the French Revolution Will Have Week's Showing Here

"Captain of the Guard," the biggest all-sound production so far attempted in the motion picture industry, opens to-day for a week's run at the Capitol Theatre. It is a dramatic musical spectacle of the French Revolution co-starring John Boles, singing star of "The Desert Song," "Son of the West," "Rio Rita," and others, and Laura La Plante.

It brings Wakefield Cadman, America's foremost composer, to the singing screen for the first time with specially written songs which will become immensely popular because of their haunting melodies.

And the Marcelline itself, the dramatic national hymn of the French nation, is dramatized both in pictures and music to a height of intensity that sweeps every emotion before it. This song is the theme behind the picture, the immortal music that carries forward both the beautiful love story between Boles as Rousset de Lisle and Miss La Plante as Marie Marney, who becomes the flaming leader of the early revolutionists known to them and to the whole of France as "The Torch."

Besides Boles and Miss La Plante, such celebrities as Sam de Grasse, Lionel Belmore, Stuart Holmes, Evelyn Hall, Murdoch McQuarrie, Claude Fleming, George Backhouse, Richard Cramer, Harry Burkhart, DeWitt Jennings, and many others appear in important roles. "Captain of the Guard" is an original screen story by Houston Branch, noted playwright.

Look part. Kathleen Irvine besides distinguishing herself in delightful solo, accompanied several of the violinists and acted for Mrs. Semple also in this capacity with fine sympathy and artistic finish. Alisa Brudwood was among the accompanists and won well-merited applause for this and for her solo work.

The trio, two violins and piano, by Alisa Brudwood, Kathleen Irvine and Kathleen Irvine was a particularly fine number, deserving of the highest praise.

And William Irvine was well received in his brilliant solo. Others featured were: Maurice Waller, William Wright, Ursula Hills, Elvira Anderson, Arthur Cox, Linda Smith, Lorraine and Alex Caruthers, Elwood Lupton, Dickie Holden, Clifford Billingsley, Dave Fulton, Bert Russell, Geraldine Perle, Alan Anderson, Arthur Hughes, Percy Anderson, Harold Turner, Harry, Miss William Irvine, Jean Robinson, Alisa Brudwood, Marion Hall, David Smith, Augusta Marshall, Hettie Herve, Mrs. William Swenson, Mrs. R. A. Emery, Percy Brindle, Una Evans, Julian Stark, Chiffie Miller, D. Baker, H. Gillis, F. Holt, Harve Mills, Edward Veach and Linton Quesale.

ISSUE NEW MAP OF B.C.

Main Roads in Province Outlined in New Chart With Much Information

Travel routes in British Columbia, with data of interest to tourists, have been included in a new map of the province recently issued by the Major G. G. Aitken, chief geographer, under the Department of Lands, at the Parliament Buildings, and should be of great value to people traveling in automobiles in B.C.

All important roads and several trails have been included in the chart, which also carries mileage figures on the distances between the various points on different highways.

The roads are grouped under nine headings and have their courses plotted under certain letters of the alphabet, which made it easy for travelers to follow the various routes.

Tables of ferry routes, with distances in nautical miles, elevation of various centres of interest, railway lines, tourist information regarding golf courses and other sporting areas are included in the new publication.

Hospitals are also marked on the charts along with emergency stations where first aid may be secured, while on the back of the map is a table of facts of interest about the province. The first map showing British Columbia's airports, is also printed on the back of the larger chart.

Many other pieces of information of value are also included in the folder which will doubtless be of exceptional value to tourists in this province.

Priest Saves Two Swimmers And Loses Own Life

Montreal, June 22.—Rev. Raymond Cloran, D. J. prefect of discipline at Loyola College here, drowned in the St. Lawrence River yesterday after a heroic rescue of two young girls who had got beyond their depth while bathing.

Father Cloran, who was forty-six, a son of the late Senator H. C. Cloran, was bathing at Varennes when he noticed two girls in difficulties. The priest swam to their assistance while two girls put out in a rowboat. Father Cloran reached the girl who was in the greatest danger and supported her until the boat reached them and he managed to get her into it.

He then helped the other girl, who had been able to swim a little into the boat, but was too exhausted to save herself. The girls were unable to aid him and by the time further assistance reached the scene, Father Cloran had disappeared below the surface.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

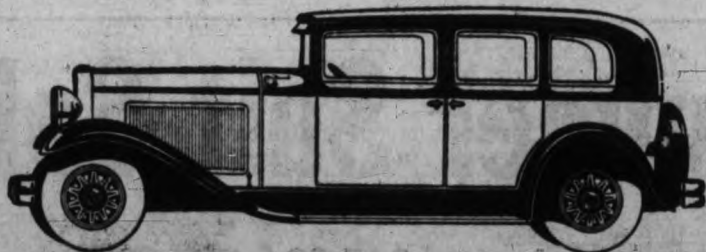

"For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; He hath established it; He created it not in vain; He formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord, and there is none else" (Isaiah xiv 18) was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon.

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page 547: "The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history, but in spiritual development. Inspired thought relinquishes a material, sensual and mortal theory of the universe and adopts the spiritual and immortal."

GEORGE ARLISS IN GREAT ROLE ALL THIS WEEK

Famous Disraeli of the Screen Will Have Stellar Part in "The Green Goddess"

Dominion Feature Is Screen Version of Widely Read Story of Indian Rajah

The polish of an English gentleman and the heart of a Chicago gun-man. That is the nature of the role that George Arliss portrays in the exciting melodrama, "The Green Goddess," new Warner Bros. all-talking Vitaphone production, which is showing at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

Mr. Arliss made this role famous on the stage and silent screen and now he has put it into permanent Vitaphone form. Only with the new medium of talking pictures could the famous star get across to a new audience all the delicious devilry of the character of the suave Indian Rajah, who baited his guests with taunts of torture and death while entertaining them with all the lavish hospitality of an East Indian potentate.

Arliss is past master of the polished and heartless roles and always succeeds in both delighting and shocking an audience. In the stage production of "The Green Goddess," written by William Archer, he delighted American audiences for more than three years, and then took the play to London, where it played for one year and a day. It was one of the most successful plays ever written—a melodrama that adapted itself perfectly to the stage and the screen.

Following his success in the stage role, Mr. Arliss made a silent screen version which became an outstanding success. The new Vitaphone production promises to exceed its predecessors in popularity.

Assisting Mr. Arliss is a notable cast, including Alice Joyce, H. B. Warner and Ralph Forbes. Al Green directed and Julien Josephson wrote the scenario.

OAK BAY ROSE SHOW MEETS WITH GREAT SUCCESS

H. R. Beaven and W. H. Salisbury Display Best Blooms; Dr. Walker Wins Most Prizes

Though six previous displays firmly established a reputation for excellence, the seventh annual rose show of the Oak Bay Rose Society was surpassingly good. The banquet hall of the Crystal Garden last Saturday afternoon and evening was a summer scene of color, and was made all the more attractive by the arrangement of the blooms.

In spite of the fact that Dr. W. P. Walker carried off the greatest number of individual prizes, the honor of displaying the best bloom in the show went jointly to H. R. Beaven and W. H. Salisbury. Mr. Beaven's flower was a Lady Inchiquin of Portuguese pink; Mr. Salisbury's a Mrs. C. Lamplough of a creamy white color. At first sight the geometrical regularity and design and flawless coloring of the blooms gave to the spectator an impression of perfected artificiality. But artificial flowers, like all things artificial, do not come up to the real thing, and many were the signs of envy cast around the two prize blooms during the course of the day.

The winners of the decorative bouquet contest were I. Coulson, who used assorted varieties of cream, pink and orange-pink roses arranged in Waterford glass bowl and dull gold candles in silver sconces. Miss Coulter won the second prize, her table being decorated with Dr. Van Fleet roses in green glass bowls. The winner of the third prize was Mrs. Harrington. The number of competitors was unusually large in this class.

Many competitors entered the "bowl of cut roses" class also. Mrs. Harrington's entry, a basket of pale gold roses and white Frau Karl Druschke taking first prize. Mrs. Walker's arrangement of pale flame-colored Angelo Pernetz taking second and Mrs. Reid's pale gold Emily Gray rose taking third.

Bernard Colley of St. Michael's School won the McCall Cup against forty-five competitors. The two school entries were unusually good, the winning collection entering by Monterey School, having about thirty-five varieties.

At 9 o'clock in the evening, when the show had lasted for seven hours, Mrs. C. J. Prior, wife of the president of the society, presented the many trophies and prizes to the winners, and extolled the work of the committee in organizing the show. The various winners were as follows:

Oak Bay Rose Society's Trophy, for twelve exhibition blooms, won by H. R. Beaven.

Hudson's Bay Company's Cup, won by W. H. Salisbury.

McCall Cup, won by Bernard Colley of St. Michael's School.

Curtis Cup, for exhibition of button-hole roses, won by Dr. Walker.

Virtue Trophy, for bowl of cut roses, won by R. A. Nicholson.

Fyfe-Smith Trophy, won by Mrs. Harrington.

Walker Trophy, for best decorated dining table, won by Mrs. (Dr.) Coulson.

Briar Trophy, won by H. R. Beaven.

Oak Bay Municipality Trophy, for best rose in show won by W. H. Salisbury and H. R. Beaven, each to hold the trophy for six months.

Schools Trophy, won by Monterey School.

The prize list was as follows:

NURSERYMEN

Class 1, representative group of roses, to be exhibited in vases—First prize, $15, won by Messrs. Olsen.

AMATEURS

Class 2, exhibition roses, twelve blooms, distinct varieties—First prize, Rose Society's Trophy, won by H. R. Beaven; second prize, $5, Dr. W. P. Walker.

GAS PRICE IN SEATTLE DOWN TO 13 1/2

Seattle, June 23. — Motorists, moved by a high sense of economy to search for the stations, are able to fill their gas tanks with 13 1/2 cents a gallon motor fuel this morning, a reduction of 4 cents under the "announced" prevailing price of last week.

Several stations in outlying sections posted the 13 1/2-cent price yesterday, making the range of quotation from 3 to 7 cents under the prices which prevailed a week ago.

Local district officials of the large distributing companies yesterday anticipated no change in the situation. The price-drop has been general throughout the Pacific Coast, with gasoline selling as low as 9 cents in Los Angeles.

Overproduction is blamed for the decline and Seattle distributors believe the present prices will prevail until the stimulated demand reduces storage totals at the big California refineries now said to be nearing maximum capacity.

New Disinfectant To Conquer Weevil

Wanted—A fumigant for insect-infested grain that will be better and safer than carbon disulphide. This was the problem placed before the chemists and entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture. It turned out to be a big job. Before the investigators finished they made more than 6,000 tests and killed more than 100,000 insects, every one of which was counted before it was killed in the test tubes, in the laboratories or in a fumigation vault. In the tests the workers used more than 300 compounds or mixtures of chemicals which they thought might prove fatal to insects such as insect grain, foodstuffs, carpets and clothing.

The rice weevil is difficult to kill. So the investigators selected this weevil to provide a stiff test for their fumigating mixtures. They counted weevils into vials by tens, buried the vials in wheat in glass flasks and added measured doses of chemical mixtures. Then they left the weevils for twenty-four hours and counted the survivors.

Some of the fumigants that killed all the weevils are dangerous to use. Others are too expensive. Finally the choice narrowed to two or three of the most promising compounds. Ethylene oxide and ethyl monochloroacetate proved slightly more effective than carbon disulphide. Three parts of ethylene dichloride mixed with one part of carbon tetrachloride is regarded as highly promising, because it is effective, cheap, less dangerous to human life and less likely to cause fires than is carbon disulphide.

Forest Research Experiments Made In Canada Forests

A bulletin issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway states that the forests of Canada are, in point of production, the second in importance of the Dominion's natural resources, being exceeded in value of products by agriculture alone.

"During the early history of Canada," the bulletin goes on, "there was a period, when white pine was at its height, in which forest products represented more than thirty-seven per cent of Canada's annual exports. But, although agricultural research has long been practiced and established throughout the country, scientific study of the art of growing forests may be said to have begun only about a dozen years ago. A beginning was made in scientific research by the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior with problems in the eastern forests. Since that time the work has gradually extended to all the provinces of the Dominion."

"Forests, unlike most natural resources, are replaceable, and if treated properly may be considered as inexhaustible, as nature will renew the crop after the mature one has been removed. In fact, as in the case of agriculture, the crop is capable of improvement by correct treatment. Nature may produce an indifferent crop, and of species that are not at the time valuable; but, if assisted by proper management, there will be produced a larger crop of a more valuable kind."

"The most pressing forest problem in Canada appears to be the regeneration of forest types under the varied conditions found between Nova Scotia and British Columbia. While scientific methods have been defined in parts of Europe, similar treatment is not applicable in Canada, where logging practice and market requirements, as well as tree species and climatic conditions, vary radically."

"The scientific study of the art of growing forests must be developed specially in the case of Canada. Only experiment and research can the factors which control the regeneration of Canadian species in the widely different sites and types be determined. This involves the establishment of experimental cutting areas on which certain well-known methods, and variations of them to suit conditions of utilization, would be employed in removing the mature crop."

"During the last ten years several experimental cutting areas, ranging in size from 200 to 500 acres, have been established in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan. These are being studied at five-year periods and the results of the various methods analyzed and compared. On extensive areas of the national forests, the practice of marking the trees to be cut has been followed, and the effects upon the remaining stand and upon reproduction are under systematic observation."

"Throughout all the provinces permanent sample plots, upon which each tree is numbered and carefully measured, have been established. These plots will be remeasured from time to time to obtain a record of the conditions following logging. It seems likely that this work will have to be extended to include all the broad types and districts in the Dominion in order that the management of Canada's forests may be placed on a basis to insure regeneration of the desirable species."

"To have successfully regenerated a stand, however, is but one step in forest management; the care of the stand throughout its life is also of importance. If the method of regeneration has resulted in a stand of even age, it is necessary to thin it at intervals in order to obtain the most satisfactory results. By this procedure the resultant stand will not only be more valuable, and marketable size attained ten to thirty years earlier, but the thinnings may amount in quantity to almost as much as the final stand. When it is possible to use them, thinnings may be looked upon as a valuable by-product of forest management."

"There are only two broad problems which form the basis of experiments and research that has already been commenced. Problems in nursery practice, seedling, planting, forest protection and others, are constantly arising, and many of them are being studied by the Forest Service of the Department of the Interior."

FETE IN AID OF SOLARIUM

Langford, June 23.—In aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, a garden fete will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. P. Bullen, of Earshwood Station, Road, on Wednesday, July 3, at 2:30 o'clock. Under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute Dr. C. E. Wace will open the fete and Scotch dances will be given by pupils of Miss Nancy Ferguson. A home cooking stall and various attractions are being arranged as well as afternoon tea and ice cream booths.

Unsurpassed Restaurant Service

Visitors will be delighted with our restaurant service. The food is always fresh, wholesome and perfectly cooked, the appointments are in the best of taste and the waitresses attentive and obliging.

A Special Luncheon At 50c

LOSES HIS LIFE

Winnipeg, June 23.—James Hill, twenty-three-year-old electrical engineer of Regina, met death in an airplane crash here late yesterday.

Flying a Moth plane near the Stinson aerodrome, a few miles west of the city, Hill was reported to have become stunting when the machine got out of control and crashed from a height of 2,000 feet.

Hill's Regina address was given as 3960 Albert Street.

Field Artillery

Horses Give Way To Motor Tractor

London, June 22.—A third of the Territorial Field Artillery will be wholly mechanized for the coming annual trainings, and a great proportion of the rest will be partially mechanized. By next year horses will probably have disappeared from this branch of the second line army.

guns is of six-wheeler type. Small "rambouts" and motor-cycles will be hired for the use of the battery staffs during the camp period.

There is grumbling because the artillery are not provided with better machines, but the six-wheelers has proved equal to all requirements of peace trainings, and to issue the territorial army with expensive special vehicles which might soon become obsolete would be wasteful. So Territorials will have to do their best with vehicles designed for civilian work, while the Regulars try out new mechanical

Sentiment Shows Temporary Change For Better, But No Large Accumulation Yet

(By B.C. Bond Corporation Limited)
New York, June 22.—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones averages of 30 industrial stocks at 219.58, up 4.28 points for the day; for 20 rails at 128.88 up 0.28 points; and for 20 utilities at 89.96, up 2.40 points.
Sales for the day totalled $3,511,500 shares.

Heavy selling orders at the opening drove the market leaders into new low ground to-day but large buying orders started a rally which carried the list above Saturday's close.

It is not believed the rally will carry on for long, as it has now come out that executives of the Steel Corporation liquidated their holdings of steel stock near the high for the year, at the time when brokers and tipsters were urging the public to load up with more, and that when the steel executives reacumulate their stock it will be convincing evidence as to their attitude. The ease with which steel sinks to new lows is taken as evidence that support on large scale is still absent.

It is feared in some quarters that for the long pull, the banking world is far from satisfied as to prospects.

GENERAL ELECTRIC TAKEN UP
General Electric was outstanding among the investment industrials for the morning, and the action of the stock served importantly in rallying the list to-day.

COMMODITIES RECOVER
Wheat and cotton were weaker early in the morning, but soon turned and started up.
Call money held at 3 1/2 per cent all day.

MORE OPTIMISTIC REVIEWS
Sentiment was aided to-day by general reviews of the business and economic situation in which the conclusion was reached that there would be an upturn in the fall which the market might be expected to begin to account late in the summer and that, in the meantime, the worst of the liquidation had been seen, particularly as regards the high grade securities.

UP FROM NEW LOWS
U.S. Steel common to-day made a new low at 152 1/2 and then was whisked up to 157 1/2.

Radio made a new low at 32 1/2, before rallying to 36 1/2.

From a new low at 23 1/2, Allied Chemical rose to 24 1/2.

PRESENT SLUMP NOT PANICKY
"Last fall, during the latter part of October and November, it was necessary for so-called support buying on a large scale to be thrown into the market in order to avert catastrophe," H. P. Bliss to-day says. "At no time during the present decline has the market been panicky and the fall in prices has been orderly."

NO SUPPORT BUYING
"There is probably no need for support buying at the present time. A revaluation and reappraisal of common stock is in progress, a revaluation which is endeavoring to balance the relationships among lower commodity prices, curtailed volume of business, lower profits and the downward adjustment in public purchasing power. Added to that economic function is the sentimental disappointment occasioned by the failure of business recovery to develop in the second quarter of the year and the reluctant acceptance of the belief that there will be no change until late in the fall, at the earliest."

"Buying common stocks for income is restricted, because of prospects for poorer earnings, and in some of the higher grade common stocks where there can be no question of dividend safety, current returns, in comparison with yields on good grade fixed income securities, are perhaps not attractive enough to bring buyers into the open."

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

June 23

Several individual market movements could make themselves felt in any period of stagnation in the general list. First of all, it must be borne in mind that the steel stock group has just about passed through its individual peak. Improvement is already being seen in earnings by the steel stocks. Even where improvement has not been noted there is a certain stability of earnings. These few days two outstanding members of the merchandising group which investors should look out carefully, Sears-Roebuck and Drug Inc. are cheap at current levels.

RASPBERRIES TO COME SOON

A Few Boxes Now Selling at Twenty Cents; Shipment of Jamaica Bananas Arrives

Several retail stores this morning had a few boxes of local raspberries for sale, though no large quantities of this fruit will arrive for a few days. At present the sale price is twenty cents a box.

A carload of Jamaica bananas arrived in yesterday's ship. The fruit is selling at a slightly lower price than the other varieties. This morning a shipment of Byng and Royal Ananias came in from Seattle. They are finding a ready market.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, June 22.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau, says to-day:

BOTTOM TURN NEAR
"Saturday's market clearly revealed, by registering another drop of new lows, that we are still not ready for improvement, and that conditions are still not ripe for any profitable commitments on the long side on more than a day-to-day basis. With both averages at new lows for the movement, the market of course presents little of an economic nature from a purely average standpoint, but from the standpoint of its performance it is beginning to present a noticeably better 'look' than it has for almost two months, or since the time in mid-April when we assumed here the broad position that the first phase of the 1930 market on the up-side was over."

"In the reverse manner it may well be that we are drawing very close to the point where the standpoint will be possibly saying that the first phase of 1930 decline is over. In fact, the increasing difficulty which stocks are presenting to being driven down and the manner in which they resist demoralization at new lows permits, for the first time since mid-April, a feeling that we will reach a definite bottom, and that while we will undoubtedly have to go through a few more bad days, somewhere around this level the market is ready to make a definite stand for at least a substantial rally."

"The thing to remember is that while not considering that to-day or to-morrow is the day, it does appear, nevertheless, that the time for this definite bottom is drawing near. In the meantime, the safe thing to do is to hold off from day to day until we get it."

"We now have the Mellon statement, to which your attention was directed a few days ago, but with little of the magic effect that these statements had on the market in 1929. Inability of the statement to turn the market, I believe, results directly from the fact that it gave no intimation either that stocks or general business were ready to turn up. Confining itself as it did to a more or less negative observation on the tariff bill, it was hardly the type of statement one would have expected from Secretary Mellon, and was naturally of corresponding negative effect in market effect."

"The thing to do, therefore, to-day and during what additional days, is to hold off and await some of the unmistakable signs of a bottom, which are admittedly lacking, but nevertheless gradually beginning to appear at the present time."

SON AND HER IS BORN TO THE LINDBERGH

Little Information Is Given Out at Morrow Home in New Jersey Where They Are

Englewood, N.J., June 22.—The Charles A. Lindbergh family to-day numbers three.

From the home of former Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow came the interesting news yesterday that a son and heir had arrived to complete the happiness of the famous flier and his wife, the former Anne Morrow.

The infant, whose birth aroused as much interest as that of many a royal child, was born on a rest day of the family's twenty-fourth birthday.

Beyond the fact that the child was a boy and was born at the Morrow home, no information was forthcoming.

From other sources, however, it was learned that the last of the family's happiness was completely shattered in the house of Mrs. Lindbergh's father. All details were withheld, just as details of the Lone Eagle's captivity and marriage were guarded.

In recent weeks admiration of the public had been aroused more than ever by Mrs. Lindbergh, who despite approaching motherhood, had clung to the life of a test pilot on a test flight of a small monoplane over the metropolitan area.

Only last Thursday they flew together to Hartford, Conn., from the flier's report. Ten days earlier she accompanied him on a test flight of a small monoplane over the metropolitan area.

Earlier Sunday, two months ago, Mrs. Lindbergh, who with her husband had been in the United States and Canada for May totalled $17,154 cars, compared with $4,925 in April and $64,911 in May, 1929.

Total production for the first five months of this year is 1,883,618, compared with 1,883,618 in 1929 and 1,883,618 in the same period of 1928.

RADIO FIRM TO ADD 15,000 MEN

Chicago, June 22.—Declaring that the purchasing power of the United States had not been impaired, the makers of a new line of radios announced plans to put on 15,000 new workers starting next week and 5,000 more a month later.

As evidence of the purchasing power of the United States it is stated that the new line of radios for 1,000,000 of the concern's new electric refrigerators have been received.

The first batch of additional employees is to be used in bringing up radio production to 4,000 sets a day. The payroll will run up to $2,000,000 a month.

It is stated that the new line of radios are to be used in starting production of the refrigerator, and their number will be increased. The initial payroll is to run $2,000,000 a month.

In reporting this expansion, William C. Orinow, president of the Orinow-Grunow Company, said it was only a question of time when business agencies are to be used in starting production of the refrigerator, and their number will be increased.

that they had many motor cars and were eager to drive them northward "to the great land of daylight which our fathers have told us of long ago."

Patience and hope were the result of another day. To him the St. Lawrence Indians presented a native manner of prehistoric make. Through an interpreter, Chief Tom Campbell said the governor had promised to do a little job which was to be a monument of laughter from the Indians and their brightly-dressed squaws.

On the way from Hazelton to Smithers the chief, suspended on a pole, was the skin of a huge grizzly bear which Lucy Holland, a woman of the village, had just developed.

Smithers and Hazelton are connected by a new blismouth project on the mainland and as this mineral is exceedingly rare, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Indian Affairs, has asked the owners closely to follow the progress of their development work.

ally under way, according to the program developed by Chairman Crawford C. McCullough of Fort William, Ontario, and his convention committee.

Morning sessions for the remainder of the week through Friday will be devoted to a general programme covering all the activities of Rotary—community betterment programmes, development of international friendships and study of better business practices.

Broadly speaking, Tuesday will be business day, Wednesday community day and Thursday and Friday international days.

Afternoon events will be made up of informal assemblies. On Tuesday the Rotarians will meet in occupational groups. On Wednesday they will discuss community service groups, and on Thursday the assembly will be a concert by the Women's Symphony Orchestra.

Each afternoon also has special entertainment for the visiting "Rotary Ann." There is a style show for Monday in the new Merchandise Mart, the "world's largest building." Tuesday the women will tour the city boulevards. Wednesday there will be a boat race on Lake Michigan and Thursday a concert by the Women's Symphony Orchestra.

46.9 Per Cent Of Auto Sales On Instalment, Survey Reveals; Loss Three-tenths Of Per Cent

Washington, June 22.—Reports from 500 automobile dealers with total net sales in 1927 of $263,137,856 indicate that 37.1 per cent of the amount was for cash, eighteen per cent on open credit and 46.9 per cent on instalment credit.

This is one of the findings made by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in the Second Part of the National Retail Credit Survey, just issued. For all the classes of retail business here dealt with it is shown that the larger dealers have lower percentages of loss than the smaller ones, the largest and the smallest standing at opposite extremes.

Important sectional differences also appear, as when the Pacific Northwest shows an eight times higher state of loss on automobile instalment sales than the New England and Central Atlantic states.

Average loss for the country on open credit with 24 months or more was one per cent and on instalment sales three-tenths of one per cent. Credit bureaus were used by seventy-seven per cent of dealers. Finance companies were used by 64.3 per cent. Over nine-tenths required at least one-third down payment. The average regional loss for the country on open credit with 24 months or more was one per cent and on instalment sales three-tenths of one per cent.

AUTO PRODUCTION SHOWS BIG CUT
Detroit, June 22.—Automobile production in the United States and Canada for May totalled 417,154 cars, compared with 442,925 in April and 664,911 in May, 1929.

Total production for the first five months of this year is 1,883,618, compared with 1,883,618 in 1929 and 1,883,618 in the same period of 1928.

CREDIT REPORTS SHOW BUSINESS CONDITIONS
Winnipeg, June 22.—The weekly report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association Limited for week ending June 21, 1930 is as follows:

Halifax—Wholesale and retailers particularly in Cape Breton report volume somewhat lighter than usual. Retail collections poor in Cape Breton, fair in other parts of province.

St. John's—A normal volume is reported in wholesale trade. Retail trade fairly good in some lines. Smaller collections in other lines. Collections fairly good.

Dry Goods—Dry goods business fair. Dry goods quite busy. Boots and shoes fair. Hardware quiet. Retail trade both city and country report a good week. Collections poor.

Toronto—Wholesale millinery, clothing and shoes normal. Retail trade continues fair to good. Collections slow to fair.

Winnipeg—Wholesale trade continues fair. Manufacturing steady. A fair volume has been transacted in seasonal lines in the retail trade. Very little improvement is reported in collections.

Regina—A good volume is reported in wholesale groceries. Dry goods fair. Boots and shoes fair. Retail trade generally is fairly good. Collections fair to slow.

Moose Jaw—Dry goods business fair. Wholesale, boots and shoes, fair. Collections slow. Retail hardware, clothing and shoes normal. Retail trade both city and country report a good week. Collections poor.

Saskatoon—A fair volume is reported in wholesale groceries. Boots and shoes improving. Fruit and confectionery good. Dry goods fair to good. Retail trade continues fair with country fair to slow. Collections generally fair to slow.

Edmonton—Retail and wholesale business rather unsettled with volume still tending towards lower levels. Sales slowing up this week, undoubtedly due to adverse crop weather conditions. Collections slow.

Calgary—Retail and wholesale business rather unsettled with volume still tending towards lower levels. Sales slowing up this week, undoubtedly due to adverse crop weather conditions. Collections slow.

One-third held outside Canada
A feature of municipal financing in 1929 was the sale by a London syndicate of over $10,000,000 Montreal debentures. This issue represented the first long term financing of a Canadian municipality in the London market since the war, and in some quarters was taken as an indication of a return to pre-war conditions.

London market absorbed a very large percentage of the new issues. It is estimated that approximately one-third of the total volume of Canadian municipal issues is held outside of Canada. That these amounts were raised principally in the two leading financial markets of the world at rates which compare favorably with rates obtained by any other foreign governments or municipalities is an impressive record.

The investments by Canadian municipalities in Canadian provinces ever defaulted in the payment of principal or interest on any of their bonds or any bonds guaranteed by them," Mr. Walwyn said.

This record, I believe, is unequalled on the North American continent. In the past there have been Canadian municipalities in Western Canada, but the principal amount involved has been less than four-tenths of one per cent of the total volume of Canadian municipal issues.

Adjustments have been made in these cases by the co-operation of the bondholders.

"Both the municipality and the investment bankers who handle the issues of municipalities have a responsibility to investors. The municipality has the responsibility of keeping its borrowings within the limits of its ability to repay. The investment banker has the responsibility of informing himself of the financial standing of the municipality whose securities he offers. If the financial statements and other facts about a municipality indicate that it is over-borrowing, then the reluctance of investment houses to bid for the municipality's debentures—or the low price which is paid for them—constitutes an indication to the municipality that its borrowings and expenditures must be sharply curtailed."

"One of the most important steps in securing a knowledge of a municipality's financial standing is the preparation of its financial statements in a standard and simplified form. This step has been taken and all members of the Investment Bankers' Association are familiar with the standard form prepared by the association. This form, over the past few years, has become well known by municipal officials and, speaking generally, they have shown a very large measure of co-operation in setting forth their financial statements in the form required by the investment banking fraternity. As a matter of fact many of the municipal officials have taken keen interest in all measures which have as their object the simplification of municipal financial statements for the use of investment houses and private investors."

THE MARGIN OF SAFETY

Recent growth in net earnings of NATIONAL SEWER PIPE COMPANY, LTD. has been as follows:

1926	$148,082
1927	150,520
1928	277,427
1929	394,465

Net earnings in 1929 were sufficient to pay dividends on the Cumulative Convertible Class "A" Stock four times over. This is a high margin of safety. The strong earnings position reflects capable management and satisfactory products. In order to keep abreast of increasing demands for clay products the company has just completed extensive alterations to the Alameda plant, the permit production of concrete for which there is a growing market. It is expected that this addition will add materially to net earnings. The Cumulative Convertible Class "A" shares are being offered at $25.00 per share to yield 4.25%. They constitute a sound investment with possibilities of participation in the profits of a growing business.

Three warm days in succession. Has the "ice-age" abated? Scientists and weather prophets are nonplused! So, we again have the nerve to make the following week-end suggestions:

BUTCHART'S GARDENS—Eight trips daily to this beautiful, famous spot. An hour or two roaming in this "fairland" is an education worth having!

BRENTWOOD BAY—Blue, sheltered waters, broken by the silver flash of grise and salmon. Joy to the angler!

NANAIMO—The Nanaimo round-trip is a delight. Sea, forest, river, mountain, lake, and the lovely Malahat Scenic Drive are merely a taste of its scenic offerings!

CORDBOY BAY—With its glittering stretch of "sunkist" beach. A paradise for "kiddie" and "grown-ups." Buses on Saturday and Sunday leave Victoria at 11 a.m., 7.15 p.m., 6.15 p.m., and leave the bay at 11.45 a.m., 5 p.m. and 7.30 p.m.

LANGFORD LAKE—A glorious inland water. Twenty-five minutes from town. And on Sunday the speedboats "do their stuff." These are real thrills!

HAMSTERLEY LAKESIDE—Another delightful recreation ground. Just fifteen minutes from the city. And for the big Sunday night dance, coach leaves the Depot at 9.15 and calls at Hamsterley shortly after twelve.

CHAPTER XIV

Was it hours or minutes later? He started up, leaning on his elbows straining his ears. Had he dozed or really slept? Had he been dreaming of had he heard a sound? Something had awakened him to this chill of horror. Was it only his own subconscious dread of the morning's doom or was it something from without? The room was dark; he could see nothing. Ah! there it was, the sound that had awakened him. He knew it again. A groan, a gasping choke outside, close to the wall. He sat down again, his forehead damp with dread of the unseen, the unknown. What was happening? What had gone before? Something beyond this sound had come through sleep, but what? And what was coming next?

He lay rigid, every sense concentrated in the one effort of hearing. But there was silence now; not even a friendly night sound broke the heavy stillness. Then, suddenly, there was a movement, stealthy, almost like a rustling of wings in the night, just a movement. And now... a step, almost noiseless, yet a step, coming to the door. And now the bar was raised. His effort to hear, to keep quiet, was agony. His eyes, through lowered lids, were fixed upon the door. It anxiety in her voice as she motioned, now peremptorily: "Follow me; not a sound or we are dead—as dead as that dog."

He felt her like steel; no bending, no weakness. A few paces towards the hillside, and at a blundering step she caught his hand, and above the white folds of her veil he saw her eyes. Once again, with his hand in hers, she led him step by step down the rocky hillside, away from the huts of the village, stealthily, noiselessly, tolllessly, inch by inch feeling her way. He saw no path, he knew no direction, but she had eyes that saw in the dark, and instinct that was more than sight. And when, finally, safe away as it seemed, Leslie would have spoken, she still silenced him, shaking her head, her finger on her lips. And so it was that for an hour they made their way between rocks, through cactus and thicket and the pale stalks of saphodol, till they stood upon level ground at the foot of the ravine.

There the girl halted, and drawing the silver whistle from her dress, she blew twice softly. The signal was answered below them and to the right. Still without speaking they turned, and following the bed of the dried watercourse a hundred paces, a flash, Abdullah, who stepped with raised hand and the pale stalks of saphodol, till they stood upon level ground at the foot of the ravine.

There the girl halted, and drawing the silver whistle from her dress, she blew twice softly. The signal was answered below them and to the right. Still without speaking they turned, and following the bed of the dried watercourse a hundred paces, a flash, Abdullah, who stepped with raised hand and the pale stalks of saphodol, till they stood upon level ground at the foot of the ravine.

"We are safe, Abdullah. Thou shalt meet a burst of light and a candle thou shalt buy—a colored candle, the finest in the south. And now, the horses. Time presses. The guard may be found, and we may be followed. Yes, thou art faithful. The kaid knew thee well. He would be pleased."

Abdullah straightened himself, and uttering a murmur and a prayer, he turned quickly and brought the horses from the bushes. The girl caught Scimitar's bridle, and swung herself into the saddle. In that light, in her white hair she would have passed for a young girl. Leslie mounted the second horse, and they started down the ravine.

"Slowly, there is an echo," she warned over her shoulder.

Abdullah walked at her side. Leslie lengthened the distance between them little that he might hold and realize the picture that they made: the slim white boyish figure balanced so lightly upon the white horse, and the grey-bearded figure in the harness, walking at her stirrup. It had the simplicity and dignity of a religious painting, some young saint led by a seer going forward through the dark valley to a brighter day.

As they emerged from the valley the girl touched her horse and shot ahead. Leslie, coming back to reality, allowed his horse to come up with him. "Where are we? Where are we going?" he demanded.

She did not answer for a moment. Then: "Is that all you have to say, Mr. Stewart? Is it nothing to be here and free... or have I failed as my father's daughter again?"

"Please," he began.

But shaking her head, she left him behind, riding fast. He had all he could do, not knowing his mount or the country, to keep at her horse's heels.

They were in the live oak forest now. It was pathless, but the girl rode straight, and in a few moments, without a word or a glance, brought him out on to the road, not fifty paces from the derelict motor.

It looked deserted, this thing of noise and cities, standing there in the starlight.

They reined in their horses beside it. For a moment they stood motionless.

"Well," she said, "feeling at a complete disadvantage. 'I suppose I must get on to El Foukar, if I can.' She did not answer. Leslie, his heart beating disconcerted, she sat motionless and silent.

He turned to the car: all was as he had left it. Going to the front he cranked it, it came back to her. It was more utterly miserable than he had ever been in his life.

"You understand?" he said. "You do understand? Of course I cannot thank you, that is impossible."

"Oh, that," she said contemptuously. "What is it? Do tell me before I go." He had out his hand. "Good-bye—and..."

Uncle Wiggily carried water in his tall silk hat.

But nothing like this happened, for the pieplant was the rhubarb bush, and though pie, so big and its leaves of rhubarb, and very good pie, too, still it takes a little time and they must be baked in the oven.

So, instead of a pie or tart, Baby Bunty was given a nice, green leaf of curly lettuce to nibble as she hopped to school. And Uncle Wiggily then hopped along the rows in his garden, watching the plants were growing.

"My! My! What have we here!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as he reached a sunny corner in his garden, which was down a little hill away from the beds of carrots, parsnips, parsley and cabbages. "Such a fine, large head of lettuce!" said the rabbit gentleman.

"I never saw one so big, and it hasn't stopped growing yet, either. Why, if it keeps on it will be a giant!"

Well might the rabbit gentleman say this, for the head of lettuce was even now as big as some of his cabbages and the summer was not half gone, which meant that there were still many days more for the plant to grow.

"How did you happen to get so big?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the lettuce head which was nodding in the wind.

"I guess I'm just lucky," said the lettuce answered for it could speak in a way Uncle Wiggily understood. "You see the ground here is just right for me to grow in. The sun shines on me all day long and when it rains little streams of water run down the hill, here, and wet my roots. Lettuce, or anything else that grows, needs air, sunshine and water and then it is happy. But if you want me to grow larger, Uncle Wiggily, you should gently dig around me every day to loosen the earth near my roots."

"Why?" asked the rabbit.

"So the night dew can keep me moist in case there is no rain during the day," was the answer. "Also when you dig around me, and loosen the hard earth, it lets the warm air get close to me and that helps me to grow larger."

"It shall be done as you wish," said the rabbit. "I'll make you the largest giant of a head of lettuce that ever grew in my garden!"

Each day, after that, Uncle Wiggily worked around this special head of lettuce just to see how large it would grow. When "there had been no rain for a long time," Uncle Wiggily carried water from his bungalow in his tall, silk hat, and carefully poured it around the roots of the lettuce. So that, in a few weeks, the head was as big as a small dot house. Animal friends of Uncle Wiggily came from all over Woodland to see the giant lettuce.

"It is wonderful!" they said.

"If it keeps on growing," bleated Uncle Butter, the goat, "you won't be able to get it in your bungalow, Wig-bly!"

"I hardly think it will grow much larger," said the rabbit, for by now the lettuce was as large as two dog houses. The big, green head waved its outstretched leaves in the air and was happy. Mr. Longears had been treated it well, hooing around it every day and giving it water when it was dry.

One day Uncle Wiggily took Baby Bunty with him to have another look at the giant head of lettuce. The outer leaves flipped and flopped in the wind. Uncle Wiggily hopped all around the lettuce plant, leaving Bunty for a moment. And when he came back, to where he had last seen the little orphan rabbit, lo and behold! She was gone! Yes, gone! He called "Bunty! Bunty! Where are you?" called Uncle Wiggily.

But no Bunty answered. Something very queer and jolly had happened. He shall tell you about it to-morrow night. Then, if the gold fish isn't too proud to play tag with the kippered herring, the story will be about Uncle Wiggily's hide out.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Giant Lettuce

(Copyright, 1930)
By HOWARD E. GARIS

Once upon a time Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit child, was hopping around in the clover grass, singing a song like this:

"Uncle Wiggily, jiggly jiggle, How does your garden grow? Your carrots and beans, Your parsnips and greens, And lettuce heads all in a row?"

Out of her Mother Goose book where she tells about Mistress Mary, quite contrary, and her garden.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily as he heard Bunty's song. "That's very good! Bunty, my another verse, Bunty, 'I can't sing another verse, and I'm sorry to hear that. I'll give you a nice lettuce leaf to nibble as you hop to school,'" said Mr. Longears.

Now you might have thought, but the old rabbit and Bunty were near a pieplant, that the old rabbit gentleman would have reached up and picked off a nice apple, cherry or cucumber pie from a little plant in the shade of which he had been hiding. Or at least he might have given the little orphan bunny a tart from the pieplant.

Uncle Wiggily carried water in his tall silk hat.

Uncle Wiggily carried water in his tall silk hat.

But nothing like this happened, for the pieplant was the rhubarb bush, and though pie, so big and its leaves of rhubarb, and very good pie, too, still it takes a little time and they must be baked in the oven.

So, instead of a pie or tart, Baby Bunty was given a nice, green leaf of curly lettuce to nibble as she hopped to school. And Uncle Wiggily then hopped along the rows in his garden, watching the plants were growing.

"My! My! What have we here!" suddenly exclaimed Uncle Wiggily as he reached a sunny corner in his garden, which was down a little hill away from the beds of carrots, parsnips, parsley and cabbages. "Such a fine, large head of lettuce!" said the rabbit gentleman.

"I never saw one so big, and it hasn't stopped growing yet, either. Why, if it keeps on it will be a giant!"

Well might the rabbit gentleman say this, for the head of lettuce was even now as big as some of his cabbages and the summer was not half gone, which meant that there were still many days more for the plant to grow.

"How did you happen to get so big?" asked Uncle Wiggily of the lettuce head which was nodding in the wind.

"I guess I'm just lucky," said the lettuce answered for it could speak in a way Uncle Wiggily understood. "You see the ground here is just right for me to grow in. The sun shines on me all day long and when it rains little streams of water run down the hill, here, and wet my roots. Lettuce, or anything else that grows, needs air, sunshine and water and then it is happy. But if you want me to grow larger, Uncle Wiggily, you should gently dig around me every day to loosen the earth near my roots."

"Why?" asked the rabbit.

"So the night dew can keep me moist in case there is no rain during the day," was the answer. "Also when you dig around me, and loosen the hard earth, it lets the warm air get close to me and that helps me to grow larger."

"It shall be done as you wish," said the rabbit. "I'll make you the largest giant of a head of lettuce that ever grew in my garden!"

Each day, after that, Uncle Wiggily worked around this special head of lettuce just to see how large it would grow. When "there had been no rain for a long time," Uncle Wiggily carried water from his bungalow in his tall, silk hat, and carefully poured it around the roots of the lettuce. So that, in a few weeks, the head was as big as a small dot house. Animal friends of Uncle Wiggily came from all over Woodland to see the giant lettuce.

"It is wonderful!" they said.

"If it keeps on growing," bleated Uncle Butter, the goat, "you won't be able to get it in your bungalow, Wig-bly!"

"I hardly think it will grow much larger," said the rabbit, for by now the lettuce was as large as two dog houses. The big, green head waved its outstretched leaves in the air and was happy. Mr. Longears had been treated it well, hooing around it every day and giving it water when it was dry.

Advice to June Brides

Points to Remember

HERE are some tips for the June bride that, faithfully followed, will keep her out of the divorce court. Get off on the right foot. Remember that the first year of marriage, like the first year of a child's life, sets the pattern for your whole future existence. The habits, the precedents, the way of handling situations you establish then, the attitude you and your husband take toward each other will be fixed during that crucial year, so watch your step when you start stumbling down the dangerous road of matrimony.

Don't go to live with your mother or his mother or any of your in-laws if it is possible to avoid such a peril. Go off by yourselves where you can have your little squats without having any third party standing around to referee the fight. No two persons of different sexes, brought up in a different environment, with different ideals and points of view can adjust themselves to each other without some friction. If there is no onlooker after they have had their little quarrel they kiss and make up and no harm is done, but with mother on the sidelines urging Tom to assert himself as head of his own house or to weep over Mary and "poor-thing" her, it starts a row that not infrequently ends in wrecking her home.

Besides, the presence of any third party in a home is a bar to the confidences that keep a young couple from really growing into one.

Don't throw away the bait with which you caught your fish. This goes double for both your personal appearance and your conversational line. No man ever yet fell in love with a slouchy, sloppy woman with cold cream on her face, but plenty of men fall out of love with wives who look at home like something the cat brought in. Never forget that your husband goes from you in the morning to an office that is full of spick-and-span girls who have on the latest thing in complexion and hairdressing and manicuring.

And don't forget that your husband married you because you flattered and cajoled him and made him believe that you thought he was about seven feet high and was more of a sheik than Rudy Vallee. A man is as bound to have flattery as a child is to have candy. Deny him sweets at home and he will go to the shop down the street for it.

Don't put your reform theories to work on your husband. Try them out on prohibition or the heathen or the movies or something. By the time a man is old enough to get married and has sufficient sense to make enough to support a wife he knows what he likes to eat and wear and the people he enjoys, and he doesn't enjoy being told that his taste is bad and that he lacks judgment and that his friends are a poor lot who are not good enough for his wife to associate with. Lay off your husband's personal tastes and habits and remember that he didn't marry to get a critic or a jailer.

Give your husband an evening out every week with no questions asked. The poor, hard-worked, domestic drudge deserves it. And take one yourself. There are no two persons such dull company for each other as those who know exactly the same things and the same people and who haven't even a new story to tell each other.

No woman makes a greater mistake than the one who tags her husband and who insists on going out with him every time he leaves home and who never even gives him a vacation by herself when he can do many things that he loves to do instead of being bored to death sitting around a hotel and going window-shopping with her. Every woman knows that she would die of boredom if she didn't have feminine companionship and every wife might well reflect that a husband has an equal need of masculine society.

Don't talk too much. Don't tell your husband everything you think you think, for sometimes you don't think it. Don't tell your husband every time you make a mistake or do anything foolish. Every man takes his wife at her own valuation and if the press-agent's her successes and shows him the grand bargains she has bought and calls his attention to the superb pie she has made, he swells out his chest and thinks that he has a world's wonder of a wife. But if you tell him all about how the vegetable man short-changed you and weep over your burned plate, he will consider you a moron and wonder what the foolkiller was doing the day he married you.

Don't discuss your husband's faults with anybody. Most of all, don't talk them over with your mother. Don't even let yourself think about them. Of course, you are going to be disappointed in him. You are going to find out he isn't the demigod you thought he was. No man is and no woman could stand one if there was such a perfect creature, so be thankful that you've got a husband who is human even as you are and let it go at that. Every time a married person dwells on the shortcomings of his or her partner it is like pressing on a boil that gets sorer and sorer until it becomes an incurable abscess.

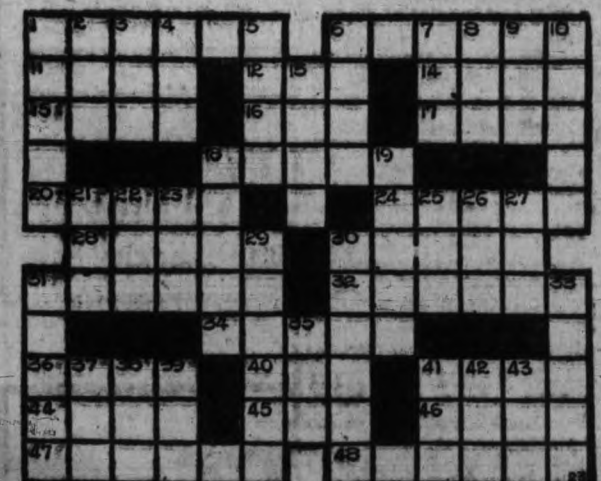

Cultivate a sense of humor. There are many things in married life at which we must either laugh or weep, and a funny bone will do more than all the moralities to keep you out of the divorce court. Men forsake wives who are beauties and wits and angels, but never one who is good-natured.

Don't be a spoil sport and raise a million objections to every plan your husband suggests for a little pleasure. The reason that most neglected wives are neglected is because they have proved themselves wet blankets on every festive occasion. Cultivate chumminess with your husband so that when the flare of passion dies out you will have the steady glow of friendship to fall back upon.

Finally, love your husband. Try to see his good points instead of looking for his bad ones, and bear in mind that marriage is just as hard on him as it is on you and that he has to sacrifice just as much as you do.

Newest Type of Engine Caused Shipping World To Follow Henry's Trip

Captain Gilbert Says No Secret That Shipbuilders Interested In Her Performance; Made Run From Point Atkinson In Three Hours; Captain and Engineers Satisfied With Her Performance; Noisy Welcome In Vancouver.

Special to The Times
Vancouver, B.C., June 23.—Gaily decorated with flags and streamers from bow to stern and with whistle and siren going continually to answer the din of welcome set by the other vessels in port and in the harbor, the St. Prince Henry, newly appointed flagship of the Canadian National Steamships Pacific Coast Fleet, sailed into the port of Vancouver on Saturday afternoon completing her voyage from Birkenhead.

The ship made a quick run over from William Head, doing the distance from Victoria to Point Atkinson in three hours. Captain A. J. Gilbert, who brought the vessel over from Birkenhead, was also on the bridge and will take official charge when this boat is placed in the Alaskan service, commencing on the evening of July 2. The Prince Henry is a sister ship to the Prince David and Prince Robert which will go into the Seattle-Victoria-Vancouver service.

The welcome at Vancouver was a great sight. Point Atkinson had hardly been passed before salutes were being accorded. From then into the Canadian National Pier, there was a terrific din which included an automobile horn chorus from the hundreds of cars parked along the roads in Stanley Park where their occupants gained their first view of the palatial liner. Thousands of people were on the pier and they took the first opportunity of boarding the boat to have a first hand look at her beautiful appointments.

SEVERE WEATHER
The trip across the Atlantic provided a severe yet interesting test in the opinion of Captain Gilbert. Every kind of weather was encountered and all the way up the coast all kinds of winds and tides were met.

"At no time did I ever give a signal that was not quickly met by her engines," he said. She performed satisfactorily throughout. Her seagoing qualities have been proven and she turns out to be a boat that can handle all sorts of weather conditions and handles exceptionally well in rough rolling seas. The engines are the latest in marine construction and it is not a secret to say that the crew of the marine world were centered on this ship during her voyage from Birkenhead to Vancouver. The boat has answered every test and it is a source of great satisfaction for me to say that she came through what really was a gruelling journey with flying colors. I am completely satisfied and

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING
San Francisco, June 23.—Christian A. Jensen, Pacific Coast manager of the Danish East Asiatic line, announced Saturday that the company has a building programme calling for eight new motorships for service out of Pacific Coast ports. The line operate between the Pacific Coast and Europe, and the cost of the new vessels is estimated at $10,000,000. The company's newest vessel, the motorship America, was recently in San Francisco on her maiden voyage, and is now on Puget Sound loading for the homeward voyage.

The steamer Henry County, which has been allocated by the shipping board to the state of California for a school ship, is to sail from Norfolk on or about July 1 for this port. It was learned here Saturday. The vessel is a lake type steamer and is to be fitted for sail before going into service. The engines will not be disturbed except in emergency. A superintendent for the vessel will be named shortly after she arrives here.
